COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD ADOPTS NEW PLAN ON REORGANIZATION

The Adams County School Board, by resolution Friday night, adopted a new "county plan" calling for reorganization of the North Adams, Conewago and Lower Adams joint school systems into two new jointures and the dropping of Paradise Twp., York County, from the Adams County system.

The plan is, in effect, that which was recommended by the school directors of the three jointures involved in a recent survey within the districts. The districts were each asked to submit a proposed plan for reorganization and the majority of the boards submitted plans calling for the making of two districts out of the present three.

Decision to drop Paradise Twp. was one of the major points of the problem before the county school board for the last seven months.

Earlier Plan Rejected

In accordance with state law calling for a revised county plan for school development from each county, the Adams County School Board last spring submitted a plan to the state calling for retention of all present jointures, and continuation of Paradise Twp. in the Conewago jointure.

The state department of Public Instruction fired that plan back as unacceptable. Among the principal reasons listed for the rejection was the inclusion of Paradise without a release from York County, and the continuation of the North Adams, Conewago and Lower Adams jointures which the state held were too small to meet the state's standards.

All of those objections are met by the plan adopted Friday night, the county board hopes. At the same time the board members de-

CALL SPECIAL CONVENTION OF DIRECTORS

School directors from throughout the county will meet April 19 at 8 p.m. in special session following action by the county school board at its meeting Friday night in the office of the county superintendent of schools.

The county board voted to call the special convention when three matters came before it, all of which, the county board hopes, can go into effect this summer.

Three Items of Business

The three items are: Addition of a speech correctionist to the county superintendent's office, addition of a speech correctionist to the county office and supervision of the Adams County Day Care Center by the county school board.

Final decision on all three matters will be made at the convention. The county board is recommending all three. Placing of the Day Care Center under the county board will make possible easier supervision of the center, will permit its expansion, and will make possible arrangements for transportation of the students attending and "should not entail any more expense to the districts which have students at the school," the county board members felt.

Center To Expand

Dr. George A. W. Stouffer Jr., supervisor of special education for the county, told the board that the Day Care Center will probably "expand to from 40 to 45 students" within a short time. There are 17 there now.

As the Day Care Center is now operated, the Department of Public Instruction pays the teachers. Supplies, the building heat, etc., are provided by the Adams County Association for Retarded Children. Dr. Stouffer gives general supervision. School boards which have children attending pay tuition. If the county board takes over the conduct of the school, the local school districts will receive reimbursement for youngsters in the Day Care Center, which will help them pay the tuition. If approval is given for the center to be placed under the county board,

ADAMS SCHOOLS GET MORE THAN MILLION FROM STATE FUNDS

Adams County schools will receive well over one million dollars from the state for 1954 operations according to a list of payments to be sent out within the next two weeks by the state to the local school boards.

The amount listed for payment to the districts is $400,430.79, which represents the second semi-annual payment to the fourth class districts. Gettysburg, the only third class district in the county, will receive its second payment in April.

The report from the state shows that the schools, with the exception of Gettysburg, will receive a total of $905,249.89 this year—representing reimbursement for operation of the schools during the year 1953-54. Last fall the schools received the first half checks, totalling $454,486.82.

That total of $1,071,603.44 from the state does not include amounts for such things as agricultural education, home economics and some other federal funds which contribute toward operation of the county's schools each year.

In addition the residents of the county pay several hundred thousands of dollars toward the system in local taxes.

DEPLORES USE OF LINCOLN'S ADDRESS HERE BY POLITICIANS

"It is a shame that politicians borrow a few quotes from Lincoln's Gettysburg Address to embellish their speeches, and it is also a shame that it is used as a practice piece by school children. It is a great state paper," declared Dr. Lewis R. Warren, director of the Lincoln National Life Foundation, of Fort Wayne, Ind., in an address at Gettysburg College Friday afternoon.

The well known authority on Lincoln said that "ranking Lincoln as an immortal is not just American provincialism."

H. G. Wells, the British historian, he said, "in ranking immortals put Christ alone on the top line. Below him, on a par, he placed Aristotle, Galileo, Shakespeare and Lincoln. Lord Curzon, the British critic, called the Gettysburg Address 'the most sublime piece of eloquence in the English tongue.' Lea Tolstoy, the Russian author, called Lincoln a 'Christ in miniature.'"

Lincoln said that his mother used to read the Bible to him regularly, when he was a boy," Dr. Warren said. "The Bible was the only book in that pioneer cabin, as in most of them. Thus he heard little but good English. He learned not only the moral precepts, but the beauties of the King James version, and since he heard only the Bible, he began to talk like it."

"Thus, the Second Inaugural Address contains fourteen references to the Deity, three to prayer, and three entire Biblical quotations. It has been called, 'Lincoln's Sermon on the Mount.' ... He had no preference for any particular part of the Bible. He just used it to find an illustration every time he needed one."

"At the age of 9, his stepmother moved in, bringing some books with her. One of these was 'Scott's Lessons in Eloquence,' which contained passages from Shakespeare, and sections of speeches by Greek democratic orators. You can imagine how the book-hungry boy took to that!"

Always Had Audience

"There were a number of cousins and stepchildren in that Indiana household, and Abe was the biggest of them, in size. Every time he felt like making a speech, he would gather all of the others around him and make it. According to the memoirs of one of them, he often did it by compulsion. Thus, he always had an audience available. 'Lincoln's abilities as an orator were recognized early. When he re-

Ike Is Choosy About Color Of Paint On Barn

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

President Eisenhower, an amateur artist of note, probably never took more care with an oil portrait than he did in selecting the color he wants his barn painted.

The barn is on his 189-acre farm near town and the shade he chose—with Mrs. Eisenhower's approval—is pastel greyish green, with a white trim.

The President spent five hours at the farm yesterday inspecting the nearly completed new home he and Mrs. Eisenhower are building on the historic Civil War battlefield, and going over repair work on the big old barn, now a weather beaten red.

When it got too dark to see much around the place, the chief executive and the First Lady drove 25 miles for a weekend of rest at their rustic lodge here in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

While Mrs. Eisenhower and New York interior decorator Elizabeth Draper planned furnishing of the new home, he wandered down to take a look at the barn.

Home Partially Finished

He found the painters applying a coat of primer white over the red and experimenting with a yellowish green trim. The chief executive had a different idea.

"What I had in mind," he told building contractor Charles Tompkins of Washington, "was a grey green with a white trim."

Forty-five minutes and several mixtures later, Eisenhower finally was satisfied. And he had the painter try some of the presidential concoction on the side of the barn.

His parting shot to the painter was: "Let your artistic sense be your guide."

The Eisenhowers' new home—the first of their own in nearly 40 years of marriage—is just about ready for occupancy. Already partly furnished, the house obviously pleased the President.

EXCHANGE CLUB GIVES $400 TO HOSPITAL DRIVE

The Gettysburg Exchange Club became the first Adams County organization to contribute to the building fund for the addition to the Annie M. Warner Hospital when John A. Codori, on behalf of the Club, presented the club's check for $400 to President Richard W. Livingston and Treasurer Philip M. Jones. The presentation took place at the regular February meeting of the board Friday night in the Muscman Annex building.

"On behalf of the members of the Exchange Club of Gettysburg I am happy to present to the board of directors of the Annie M. Warner Hospital this check in the amount of $400 for your new building fund."

"The Exchange Club realizes the value and the worthiness of such a fine institution to Gettysburg and Adams County and want you to know that we are proud to be able to play a small part in this very worthy financial drive," Mr. Codori said in presenting the first check from a civic organization.

Seek $235,000

Much of the directors meeting was devoted to planning the campaign for the $235,000 needed to complete the first structure of the expansion program. Several directors met today to formulate plans and consider organization of the fund-raising campaign.

MISS JOHNS, 81, DIES FRIDAY AT NURSING HOME

Miss Hattie May Johns, 81, for many years a well known resident of Gettysburg, died Friday evening at 7:50 o'clock at the Snyder Nursing Home, Lincolnway West. She had been in failing health for several years.

She was a daughter of the late Isaac and Lizzie (Mumper) Johns and had resided here all her life. She attended Gettysburg High School and a private school here.

Miss Johns had been a member of St. James Lutheran Church since April, 1892, and had been appointed financial secretary of the church in 1909 by the late Dr. Clutz, then pastor at St. James. She continued to serve in that office until several years ago when she became ill. She became a member of the Christian

Stevens, Buchanan Historians' Topic

Two distinguished men in the history of Adams County will be the subject of papers to be presented at the March meeting of the Adams County Historical Society next Tuesday evening at the court house. James Buchanan and Thaddeus Stevens will be the subjects.

A paper by Signe Wagnild on "Thaddeus Stevens, Defender of Free Education" will be followed by a paper by Sandra Strausbaugh on "James Buchanan, Politician and President." Both papers were prepared in history classes at Gettysburg High School under the supervision of J. M. Sheads of the school faculty.

A business session will precede the program with President Charles Diller in charge.

DEPLORES USE OF LINCOLN'S ADDRESS HERE BY POLITICIANS

"It is a shame that politicians borrow a few quotes from Lincoln's Gettysburg Address to embellish their speeches, and it is also a shame that it is used as a practice piece by school children. It is a great state paper," declared Dr. Lewis R. Warren, director of the Lincoln National Life Foundation, of Fort Wayne, Ind., in an address at Gettysburg College Friday afternoon.

The well known authority on Lincoln said that "Ranking Lincoln as an immortal is not just American provincialism."

H. G. Wells, the British historian, he said, "in ranking immortals put Christ alone on the top line. Below him, on a par, he placed Aristotle, Galileo, Shakespeare and Lincoln. Lord Curzon, the British critic, called the Gettysburg Address 'the most sublime piece of eloquence in the English tongue.' Lea Tolstoy, the Russian author, called Lincoln a 'Christ in miniature.'"

Learned From Bible

"Lincoln said that his mother used to read the Bible to him regularly, when he was a boy," Dr. Warren said. "The Bible was the only book in that pioneer cabin, as in most of them. Thus he heard little but good English. He learned not only the moral precepts, but the beauties of the King James version, and since he heard only the Bible, he began to talk like it."

"Thus, the Second Inaugural Address contains fourteen references to the Deity, three to prayer, and three entire Biblical quotations. It has been called 'Lincoln's Sermon on the Mount.' ... He had no preference for any particular part of the Bible. He just used it to find an illustration every time he needed one."

"At the age of 9, his stepmother moved in, bringing some books with her. One of these was 'Scott's Lessons in Elocution,' which contained passages from Shakespeare, and sections of speeches by Greek democratic orators. You can imagine how the book-hungry boy took to that!"

Always Had Audience

"There were a number of cousins and stepchildren in that Indiana household, and Abe was the biggest of them, in size. Every time he felt like making a speech, he would gather all of the others around him and make it. According to the memoirs of one of them, he often did it by compulsion. Thus, he always had an audience available. 'Lincoln's abilities as an orator were recognized early. When he rec-

President And "First Lady" Spend 5 Hours At Farm House

President and Mrs. Eisenhower, soon to be Pennsylvania residents, spent five hours Friday visiting at their newly completed new farm home here.

The "First Lady" worked inside with New York interior decorator Elizabeth Draper.

The President wandered around outside for the most part — making suggestions about the landscaping and going over repair work on the big red barn.

One thing he decided was that he didn't want it red any more. The chief executive supervised the mixing of paint to get just the new shade he wanted — a pastel grayish green. Then he hiked back to the house, got Mrs. Eisenhower's approval, and told the painters to go ahead.

New House Troubles

The new brick house itself, painted white, is just about ready for occupancy. It already is partly furnished and, just like any other couple getting ready to move into a new home, the Eisenhowers are having their troubles.

"We're getting down to the point where the new rugs don't fit and the furniture doesn't fit," the president said with a laugh.

President Eisenhower drove to the 189-acre farm from Washington, arriving here about 11:15 o'clock Friday morning. He was met there by his wife, who had driven over from the Presidential Catocin mountain retreat, Camp David, at Thurmont, Md.

The Chief Executive and the first lady motored back to the camp together shortly after 6 p.m. They plan to spend the weekend resting there and will return to Washington Sunday evening.

The Eisenhowers came prepared for a long stay at the farm yesterday. They had a picnic lunch brought over from Camp David

Ike Is Choosy About Color Of Paint On Barn

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
President Eisenhower, an amateur artist of note, probably never took more care with an oil portrait than he did in selecting the color he wants his barn painted.

The barn is on his 189-acre farm near town and the shade he chose — with Mrs. Eisenhower's approval — is a pastel grayish green, with a white trim.

The President spent five hours at the farm yesterday inspecting the nearly completed new home he and Mrs. Eisenhower are building on the historic Civil War battlefield, and going over repair work on the big old barn, now a weather beaten red.

When it got too dark to see much around the place, the chief executive and the First Lady drove 25 miles for a weekend of rest at their rustic lodge here in Maryland's Catocin Mountains.

While Mrs. Eisenhower and New York interior decorator Elizabeth Draper planned furnishing of the new home, he wandered down to take a look at the barn.

Home Partially Finished

He found the painters applying a coat of primer white over the red and experimenting with a yellowish green trim. The chief executive had a different idea. "What I had in mind," he told building contractor Charles Tompkins of Washington, "was a grey green with a white trim."

Forty-five minutes and several mixtures later, Eisenhower finally was satisfied. And he had the painter try some of the presidential concoction on the side of the barn.

His parting shot to the painter was:

"Let your artistic sense be your guide."

The Eisenhowers' new home — the first of their own in nearly 40 years of marriage — is just about ready for occupancy. Already partly furnished, the house obviously pleased the President.

CONSERVATION CONFERENCE IS HELD ON FRIDAY

A conference arranged by the directors of the Adams County Soil Conservation District was attended by 23 earth-moving equipment operators and contractors in the meeting room of the Arendtsville National Bank Friday. Also present were Clarence Waybright, Robert Lott and Bernard Klunk, directors of the district; County Farm Agent Frank S. Zettle, and members of the staff of the local office of the Soil Conservation Service.

The purpose of the conference was to acquaint the operators of the earth-moving equipment and contractors with types of equipment, soil characteristics, methods of construction and specifications applicable to the construction of soil and water conservation practices on Adams County farms.

James Wise, area conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, displayed slides showing various stages of construction of open ditches, closed drains, diversion terraces, waterways and ponds in Pennsylvania, emphasizing construction methods and the types of equipment adapted to efficient and economical construction.

Gilmore Osterling, watershed project engineer for the Soil Conservation Service, discussed reasons for various specifications required by the Soil Conservation Service for certain soil and water conservation practices. Osterling said that ponds larger than the average farm pond have been built in Adams County and more are being planned; that construction methods applicable to the average size farm pond with a maximum depth of 10 feet are not adequate for larger irrigation ponds having a head of water in excess of 10 feet. Osterling urged the use of a sheepfoot roller as a means of obtaining proper compaction of soils on large ponds, pointing out that this type of equipment applies compaction at a rate up to 250 lbs. per square inch, whereas the compaction achieved by the average bulldozer alone is applied at a rate less than 10 lbs. per square inch.

Osterling warned that unless soil is closely packed on the large type of pond, water losses may be in excess of normal losses by evaporation, and may also result in a safety hazard.

Richard Long, local Soil Conservation Service technician, discussed the various types of soil found in Adams County and their adaptation to pond building. John Dattilo, conservation aid, explained the method of pond layout.

Lunch for all was furnished by the directors of the Soil Conservation District.

and they munched sandwiches in between their chores of getting the house ready.

Pigeons In Trouble
The President found workmen putting a new tin roof on the barn. The last time he visited the farm he was told the holes in the roof resulted in part from neighbor boys shooting at pigeons.

As for the pigeons, Eisenhower made it clear they're in for trouble.

"I'll have to get out my shotgun," he mused as he watched them fly overhead. "If there is anything I hate, it's those dirty pigeons around a barn."

Even though the nation's first family hasn't moved in yet, telephone service has been established to keep the President in quick touch with the White House.

One example of how that works came yesterday. Newsman who accompanied Eisenhower from Washington heard over an automobile radio that the House of Representatives had passed legislation to give everyone a $20 income tax cut — the proposal the Chief Executive denounced on Wednesday as the height of "fiscal irresponsibility."

When reporters told the President about the House approval, however, they found he already was informed. There had apparently been a telephone call from the White House.

White House correspondents and photographers with the President were: Marvin Arrowsmith, George Asman, Robert Clark, Thomas J. Craven, E. W. Darby, Milton Frier, Bruce G. Hoertel, H. M. Lambert, Jack Lantz, Thomas O'Holloran, George Skadding, Merriman Smith, William I. Smith, R. T. Weston and Harry Winters. They represented the Associated Press, Life, Movie-tone News, Time, U. P., News Pic, CBS-TV, International News Photos, U. S. News-World Report, Telenews and the Western Union.

Black Cat Kibitzes On President

As President Eisenhower watched Carl Mauss mix some paint at his farm house near here Friday, a stray black cat pussy-footed by with an interested look. No one knew where the cat came from or where it went. President Eisenhower, noticing a yellow-green shade of paint being applied to his big barn, checked with the "First Lady" and then helped the painter mix a shade to his liking, a gray green. turned from the Blackhawk Wars, he records that he was torn between being a blacksmith and being a lawyer. I think that he chose the law primarily because he loved to speak. He was soon recognized as the best stump speaker in that area. . . . His political address at Cooper Institute assounded the men of the day, and got his political career started in earnest."

Dr. Warren turned to the Gettysburg Address, and stated that it was not done on the spur of the moment. "He practiced for it all of his life. There was in him the urge to excel. When Lincoln's step-mother was once asked whether she had ever noticed anything that would set him apart, she answered, 'Only this. Whatever he did, he did with all his might.'"

Lincoln Address A Masterpiece

"Contrary to popular opinion, the Gettysburg Address was recognized right away as a masterpiece. I have checked newspaper editorial columns, and they acclaimed it at once, with the exception of one paper in Harrisburg, one in Chicago, and one in London. Even Edward Everett, who had preceded Lincoln on the platform, took his hand and said, 'I should be glad if I came as near to the point in two hours as you did in two minutes.'"

"There are varying accounts of how the talk was received by the audience at the time, I suppose that the most authoritative account was The Associated Press, and their correspondent stated that Lincoln was interrupted seven times by applause, and that the speech was followed by prolonged applause."

"Dress Rehearsal"

"Lincoln had what might be called a dress rehearsal for the Gettysburg Address," Dr. Warren said. "On the night of July 7, 1863, news had arrived in Washington of the victory at Gettysburg, and of the fall of Vicksburg, the Confederate stronghold on the Mississippi, and the crowds, celebrating, gathered around the White House. Lincoln stepped out, and spoke briefly."

"He talked of July 4, the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, and of other notable things which had happened on July 4. . . . He said, 'This would be a fine theme for a speech, but I am not prepared to make one worthy of the occasion.' At Gettysburg, he was prepared."

"On that evening of July 7, he mentioned three times that 'all men are created equal.' His opening sentence was, 'How long ago was it that this country was founded?' Compare this with his opening at Gettysburg, 'Four score and seven years ago. . . . He had milled it over in his mind during the time between. Now the master hand was at work, and the difference was apparent."

Need for a speech correctionist in the county was stressed by Dr. Stouffer who told the board. "Our latest survey shows there are 300 children in the county's schools who badly need speech correction, and in addition there are a much larger number who would benefit from speech correction."

Cost of a speech correctionist

"Would not be very high to any one district," the county board was told. The state will pay a part of the cost, the remainder will be paid by the districts in proportion to the amount of work performed by the speech correctionist in each district.

Cost of a reading consultant, however

The speech consultant, it was reported, will not work directly with the students to any large extent, but instead will work with the teachers to help them in improving the quality of reading by students in the county.

Asked whether it was what Lincoln said or what he did that made him great, Dr. Warren replied that as with most great men, it was a composite. "He did many things well. He was a fine lawyer, a military mastermind, and a scientist and engineer. He had an analytical mind and a humanitarian spirit."

Dr. Warren stated that he had been in Gettysburg several times before, the last occasion being "seven or eight years ago," to deliver a Dedication Day speech. He remained only a few hours Friday, explaining that he had a speaking engagement in Chambersburg.

Dr. Warren was introduced by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, head of the History Department in Gettysburg College. Approximately forty persons attended the meeting.

clared repeatedly that "the door is open" to Paradise Twp. if it wishes to join one of the two new jointures and can get a release from York County.

Indecision In Paradise

Paradise Township's intentions were unknown by the Adams County board, even after seven months of discussion.

In response to the questionnaire sent to all districts in the three jointures that are expected to become wo, the Paradise directors voted in favor of making two jointures from the present three, and expressed their preference for inclusion in the Lower Adams, (New Oxford) area. That request has not been rescinded, but, as the county board members pointed out, the state will not accept that plan unless York County gives it approval and that approval has apparently not been asked. More recently Paradise has been discussing a merger with Dover and other York County districts in a new school organization.

As pointed out by the county board Friday evening, the revised plan for school development will not go into effect until all district boards concerned vote "to make it happen that way." But it was expected that there may be action putting into effect the proposal before the summer is far advanced. The new jointures could be begun July 1. If the state gives its approval to the new county plan it is expected that some action will occur in the near future. Both the North Adams and Conewago jointure areas need additional classroom space and the state has refused to give approval for the construction until an acceptable county plan was adopted for the county.

How Plan Would Work

In effect the new plan calls for most of the Conewago jointure to join the North Adams district and for part of Conewago to join Lower Adams. As outlined in the resolution, East Berlin, Huntingdon Twp., Lattimore Twp., Reading Twp. and York Springs will form one jointure. Abbotstown, Berwick, Hamilton, 64 per cent of Mt. Pleasant, New Oxford, Oxford, and 15 per cent of Tyrone will form the other jointure.

Because the county plan must embrace all of the county, the remainder of the allocation conforms exactly to the present status of joint systems in the county.

The other jointures listed include: Upper Adams, embracing Arendtsville, Bendersville, Biglerville, Butler, Menallen and 35 per cent of Tyrone; Littlestown, including Germany, Littlestown, 35 per cent of Mt. Joy, 36 per cent of Mt. Pleasant, Union, and McSherrystown and Conewago which have been allocated to the Littlestown jointure under the county plan for some time, but which have never actually entered the jointure—both preferring to continue independently.

Fairfield jointure, comprising Fairfield, Hamiltonban and Liberty, and Gettysburg jointure, comprising Cumberland, Franklin, Freedom, Gettysburg, Highland, 65 per cent of Mt. Joy and Straban. The resolution states that the

Would Have State Board Show Exams

A bill was introduced in the General Assembly at Harrisburg on Tuesday by Adams County's representative in the lower House, Francis Worley, which would require the state board of law examiners "to produce and show" any applicant his own bar examination paper upon written request.

The bill would allow any applicant who has taken the prescribed written examination for admission to the bar of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to file a request in writing with the state Board of Law Examiners to see his own corrected papers and the mark he or she received on each question together with the examiners' comment thereon. The act would become effective immediately upon passage and would apply to examinations given in both the past and future.

plan is based on an attempt to approach the state standards for student population in consideration of "economic, sociological and financial factors."

The state has set 1,600 students as the standard for jointures, and the two joint systems that are planned out of the present three will approach that figure within a few years. According to an estimate made of attendance within six years, the proposed Conewago-North Adams area in six years will have 1,324 students, about 300 more than the area has at present, while the new Lower Adams area will have, in six years, 1,265 students, also a jump of about 300 from its present student population.

The existence of a number of "fringe" areas, such as around Arendtsville, were discussed, but the county board decided that any action in relation to the "fringes" between districts should be decided upon later.

Black Cat Kibitzes On President

As President Eisenhower watched Carl Mauss mix some paint at his farm house near here Friday, a stray black cat pussy-footed by with an interested look. No one knew where the cat came from or where it went. President Eisenhower, noticing a yellow-green shade of paint being applied to his big barn, checked with the "First Lady" and then helped the painter mix a shade to his liking, a gray green. At the left is Charles H. Tompkins, general contractor in charge of the renovation and construction. The President is in the center and Mauss is at the right.

turned from the Blackhawk Wars, he records that he was torn between being a blacksmith and being a lawyer. I think that he chose the law primarily because he loved to speak. He was soon recognized as the best stump speaker in that area. . . . His political address at Cooper Institute assuaged the men of the day, and got his political career started in earnest."

Dr. Warren turned to the Gettysburg Address, and stated that it was not done on the spur of the moment. "He practiced for it all of his life. There was in him the urge to excel. When Lincoln's step-mother was once asked whether she had ever noticed anything that would set him apart, she answered, 'Only this. Whatever he did, he did with all his might.'"

Lincoln Address A Masterpiece
"Contrary to popular opinion, the Gettysburg Address was recognized right away as a masterpiece. I have checked newspaper editorial columns, and they acclaimed it at once, with the exception of one paper in Harrisburg, one in Chicago, and one in London. Even Edward Everett, who had preceded Lincoln on the platform, took his hand and said, 'I should be glad if I came as near to the point in two hours as you did in two minutes.'"

"There are varying accounts of how the talk was received by the audience at the time, I suppose that the most authoritative account was The Associated Press, and their correspondent stated that Lincoln was interrupted seven times by applause, and that the speech was followed by prolonged applause."

"Dress Rehearsal"
"Lincoln had what might be called a dress rehearsal for the Gettysburg Address," Dr. Warren said. "On the night of July 7, 1863, news had arrived in Washington of the victory at Gettysburg, and of the fall of Vicksburg, the Confederate stronghold on the Mississippi, and the crowds, celebrating, gathered around the White House. Lincoln stepped out, and spoke briefly."

"He talked of July 4, the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, and of other notable things which had happened on July 4. . . . He said, 'This would be a fine theme for a speech, but I am not prepared to make one worthy of the occasion.' At Gettysburg, he was prepared."

"On that evening of July 7, he mentioned three times that 'all men are created equal.' His opening sentence was, 'How long ago was it that this country was founded?' Compare this with his opening at Gettysburg, 'Four score and seven years ago. . . . He had milled it over in his mind during the time between Now the master hand was at work, and the difference was apparent."

Parallels Nativity Story
"In the Gettysburg Address, there are numerous Biblical expressions. His references to the birth of the nation in such words as 'conceived' and 'brought forth' seems to parallel the story of the Nativity. His main theme here was that these men died that the nation might live.

"Then he comes to his logical sequence, his grand climax: 'We here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain.' This was a direct quote from Parson Weems' 'Life of Washington,' which Lincoln had read as a boy. There is a story in there of Washington seeing some of his ragged Revolutionary soldiers, and saying, 'I hope that they know that they shall not die in vain.'"

"Great State Paper"
"Too many people make the mistake of emphasizing the prepositions in the final section of the Address. Lincoln emphasized 'the people,' and not 'of, by, and for.' The powers of government must come back to the people. That is what he was saying. This is our antidote for a sick democracy. He talked, not only to those here at Gettysburg, but to all democracies, everywhere. This is a great state paper, and it should be locked away in the archives with other great documents of liberty and democracy."

Dr. Warren speculated over what Lincoln would think if he returned today. "If he could come back today, he would be speechless. He wouldn't comprehend why so many people are willing to exchange a democratic government for something untried, especially since we have become so prosperous and happy under a democracy."

In the question period that followed, Dr. Warren was asked what Lincoln meant by "equality." He answered, "Lincoln meant the right of a man to enjoy the fruits of what he earns, that he is not a slave. He did not mean that men were equal in ability or in appearance. He meant just what we all mean, except for the confusion caused by modern psychologists."

Always "Anti-Slavery"

Answering another question, Dr. Warren said that Lincoln had always been "naturally anti-slavery." "People always read the portion of his letter to Horace Greeley in which he said that if he could preserve the union by freeing none of the slaves, he would do so. He considered this a part of his constitutional oath. But people seldom read the last line in that letter, in which he said, 'my personal wishes notwithstanding, that all men everywhere might be free.'"

Asked whether it was what Lincoln said or what he did that made him great, Dr. Warren replied that as with most great men, it was a composite. "He did many things well. He was a fine lawyer, a military mastermind, and a scientist and engineer. He had an analytical mind and a humanitarian spirit."

Dr. Warren stated that he had been in Gettysburg several times before, the last occasion being "seven or eight years ago," to deliver a Dedication Day speech. He remained only a few hours Friday, explaining that he had a speaking engagement in Chambersburg.

Dr. Warren was introduced by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, head of the History Department in Gettysburg College. Approximately forty persons attended the meeting.

300 Pupils Need Speech Help
Need for a speech correctionist in the county was stressed by Dr. Stouffer who told the board, "Our latest survey shows there are 300 children in the county's schools who badly need speech correction, and in addition there are a much larger number who would benefit from speech correction."

Cost of a speech correctionist "would not be very high to any one district," the county board was told. The state will pay a part of the cost, the remainder will be paid by the districts in proportion to the amount of work performed by the speech correctionist in each district.

Cost of a reading consultant, however will have to be born entirely by the districts, although "spread out over the county," the cost "should not be too great to any one district." The speech consultant, it was reported, will not work directly with the students to any large extent, but instead will work with the teachers to help them in improving the quality of reading by students in the county.

How Plan Would Work

In effect the new plan calls for most of the Conewago jointure to join the North Adams district and for part of Conewago to join Lower Adams. As outlined in the resolution, East Berlin, Huntingdon Twp., Latimore Twp., Reading Twp. and York Springs will form one jointure. Abbotstown, Berwick, Hamilton, 64 per cent of Mt. plan is based on an attempt to approach the state standards for student population in consideration of "economic, sociological and financial factors."

The state has set 1,600 students as the standard for jointures, and the two joint systems that are planned out of the present three will approach that figure within a few years. According to an estimate made of attendance within six years, the proposed Conewago-North Adams area in six years will have 1,324 students, about 300 more than the area has at present, while the new Lower Adams area will have, in six years, 1,265 students, also a jump of about 300 from its present student population. ## Today's Talk

TOOLS TO HAPPINESS
The expert mechanic, carpenter, and all those who work with tools insist upon those that are sharp and in the best possible condition. Otherwise their work would be of an inferior quality. And how proud a workman is of his tools that are in top condition at all times!

In like manner do we have tools to happiness, and if we keep them in prime condition our friendships will always be kept in repair, and we will want to be constantly building something about us to add to our efficiency and our personal happiness.

Courtesy, consideration for the rights of others, generosity, selflessness, faith and courage are but a few of the tools that are essential if we would be experts in the building of happiness, and we must always bear in mind that when we build for the happiness of others we build for our own.

Most of these tools to happiness may be ours throughout life, needing no replacements. Each day they are ours to use. We can even loan these tools to others, who use them to such good ends that they are inspired to own such tools as their own!

Most of us are born with a full set of tools to happiness, but never learn how to use them, or at most only a few of them, and so miss out on valuable friendships, delightful experiences, and much of the richness of life. The best of tools are useless if they are not put to use; besides, they soon rust if not used.

Dr. Albert Schweitzer, who gave up a brilliant career in music, theology, and medicine to go to "darkest Africa" that he might serve the humblest of human beings, once said that he did it to help compensate for all the goodness and beauty in the world that had been accorded to him. Few men have so inspired others to a life of service as has this selfless man.

Just Folks

WARNING TO GIRLS

Dear Girl: The simple truth I state.
The best of men will stay out late.
The kindest men are apt to think they can't afford that coat of mine.
The perfect man that you pick out will leave his garments strewn about.

You'll find the man that love exalts.
When married, will display his faults.
That rare perfection you behold, When you're his wife will be dispelled.
And day by day, to your distress, He'll leave the bathroom in a mess.

Your grandma often shook her head
At things your grandpa did or said.
Your mother, though she loved your dad,
Knew every weakness that he had;
And even Mamie may not like Some traits that she has found in Ike.

So, dear, I warn you, be prepared.
The honeymoon you two have shared
So happily, in time, will wane
And you'll have reason to complain.
Be patient with him if you can.
No woman gets a perfect man.

General Is Named Highway Engineer

HARRISBURG (AP)—Maj. Gen. George J. Richards (Ret.), Easton, has been named chief engineer for the state Highways Department in a "non-political appointment" by George M. Leader.

Leader appointed Richards to the $14,000-a-year post Thursday to succeed C. H. Buckius, who resigned.

The 64-year-old Richards, a 1915 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, retired from active duty with the U. S. Army Engineers in 1953.

Richards' previous experience in highways constructions includes road, bridge and map work in the United States, Mexico and Panama.

UTAH FIVE CAN CLINCH TITLE THIS EVENING

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Coach Jack Gardner, who blew up a storm when he stepped out of the Big Seven with a pair of souvenirs, can make off with his first Skyline Conference basketball title tonight if his Utah kids defeat Colorado A&M as expected.

The lads who have made the difference are Gary Bergen, who moved to Utah with Gardner from K-State, and Art Bunte, who decided he liked Gardner's style, too after playing as a sophomore at Colorado.

With Bunte and Bergen, Gardner has been off and running this season, piling up a 10-1 record.

Beat Wyoming
The Utes, No. 8 in the Associated Press poll, left just one game between themselves and the Skyline title last night by disposing of second place Wyoming 75-57.

Colorado A&M, meanwhile, was clobbered by Brigham Young 94-65. In another game involving conference title rights, Missouri blasted Oklahoma 91-78 to keep pace with league leading Colorado in the Big Seven.

Colorado plays K-State tonight, then meets Missouri in the showdown Monday.

11th For Dukes
Duquesne, No. 4 in the poll, defeated Cincinnati a second time 68-60 for the Dukes' 11th straight.

In the Atlantic Coast Conference, where a tourney will decide the champ next week, Duke nailed down second place in the regular season by beating North Carolina 96-74.

Elsewhere in the ACC, Wake Forest defeated South Carolina 94-75.

Other Decisions
In the Southern Conference Washington and Lee defeated Davidson 63-52; and Virginia dropped a 78-72 decision to Virginia Tech.

The two Pacific Coast Conference division champs kept winning, UCLA, the Southern winner, barely topped Southern California 66-65, however, Oregon State, the Northern kingpin, trounced Oregon 53-44. UCLA and Oregon State meet for the PCC title in a best-of-three set next week.

MAKE ATOMIC TESTS ON NEW SITE, AUSTRALIA

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Britain will make atomic tests on a new site south of the existing Woomera rocket range in Australia later this year, Supply Minister Howard Beale said in a statement today.

He said the tests would be "not atomic bomb explosions but detonations of high explosive charges to test techniques relating to atomic weapons." He reiterated earlier assurances they would not involve the H-bomb, which Britain has said it plans to make.

"There may be some radioactivity limited to a small area in the immediate neighborhood of the explosion but every precaution will be taken to ensure there is no danger to human beings or stock," he added.

It was believed the tests are aimed at perfecting triggering devices for atomic warheads and possibly for the H-bomb.

Beale indicated the tests would take place in an area accessible by road to the east-west railway line linking the new test field with the existing rocket range area to the north.

The Emu field base, used for the 1953 series of atomic weapon tests, is hundreds of miles across stony desert from Woomera.

The new site was envisaged as a permanent testing ground for weapons involving small atomic explosions.

Carlisle Certain Of 2nd Half Tie By Lacing GHS 88-43; Jayvees Win 29-27

An impressive Carlisle High School basketball squad sewed up at least a tie for first place in the second half race of the South Penn League by walloping the Gettysburg High Warriors here Friday evening 88-43. The Carlisle total was the largest ever run up against a Gettysburg team on its home court.

Coach Gene Evans used two complete teams against the locals and every player broke into the scoring column. Clyde Washington, stellar scoring ace for the Herd, landed seven goals and 10 for 10 foul shots to be high man for the evening. The Carlisle flash played until five minutes had elapsed in the third period and did not re-enter the game.

Gettysburg held its own for six minutes of play after which the visitors ran up 12 straight points and from then on out there was never any doubt.

Hold Early Leads
The Warriors held the lead twice, 4-2 and again at 10-8 after 6:00 but a layup by Rowe and a pair of fouls by Washington put the Herd in front and at the quarter the score was 20-10.

Merle Gorman opened the second period with a close shot. Keim and Weishaar exchanged goals and then Carlisle rolled to a 42-18 half time lead as the Warriors went without a goal during the last seven minutes.

Midway in the third period the Green and White led 54-26. A string of 16 straight points were landed by Carlisle before Rolf Johnson netted a layup early in the final period for Gettysburg. Johnson, who picked up 11 of his 17 points in the final stanza, collected the first four goals for the Forney-men during the round. The Carlisle reserves seldom missed on their shots to pile up the big total. Gorman, Pete Pennington, and Jim Coleman rounded out the Gettysburg scoring with twin-pointers.

The Warriors have now lost 17 straight for an overall season record of 2-18. They close their campaign at Chambersburg Tuesday.

Thrilling Finish
It was nip and tuck the entire way. The half ended 13-13 and the Warriors pulled ahead 21-19 going into the final frame. A pair of goals by Jack Crist enabled Coach Ellis' team to take a 27-25 lead with about two minutes left. Carlisle knotted the score and then with but five seconds remaining Ronald Fridinger was fouled. He calmly landed both shots to make it 29-27. Carlisle streaked down the court and Green was fouled just as the game ended. He missed both shots to insure the local victory. Earl Little, Bob Hess and Jon Wagnild all turned in important roles in the triumph.

JR. HI CAGERS DROP PAIR TO CARLISLE FOE

SADDLER WINS OVER DAVIS; TO GO AFTER CARTER

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP)—He's not the old Sandy Saddler of pre-Army days but the featherweight champion still is the best in his division by far.

He proved it once again last night by walloping 31-year-old Teddy Davis of Hartford with monotonous regularity en route to a unanimous decision in the title 15-rounder in Madison Square Garden.

Having disposed of the No. 1 contender of the 126-pound class, Sandy looked forward with eagerness today in the direction of lightweight king Jimmy Carter.

"That's the one we want next," said manager Charley Johnston. "Sandy has wiped out everyone else so we might as well go after Carter. I'm going to try and make it for May or June outdoors."

Davis' Hand Injured
"Carter? Sure, man, if there's money in it, he's the man for me," said Saddler.

Davis, the "loosingest" challenger of all time with 47 previous defeats on a spotty record, blamed an injured right hand for his one-sided defeat.

There was a small lump on the hand about two inches back of the knuckle of his index finger.

"I hurt it in the third round when I hit him on the head," said Davis.

Both Were Warned
"He's a rough fighter—a dirty fighter," said Davis. "He breaks the rules. The referee should have taken a few rounds away from him."

Harry Kessler, who officiated, warned Sandy many times for holding and hitting and low punching but he didn't penalize the champion. He also warned Davis for his bullying.

Kessler scored it 11-3-1. Judge Harold Barnes had it 12-3 while Judge Bert Grant had it closest with a 9-6 score. The AP card was 10-3-2 for Saddler.

Despite a 40-point effort by Bob Forry, the Hanover Nighthawks were blasted from contention in the South Penn League Friday evening by Chambersburg 71-58. Forry has smashed all individual scoring records in the league and still has one game remaining.

Mechanicsburg was also eliminated as a contender as the result of its 54-48 loss to Middletown.

Waynesboro topped Shippensburg 81-75 as both teams turned in terrific foul shooting exhibitions. Waynesboro landed 41 of 47 free tosses while Shippensburg made good on 31 of 45. Carroll Hartle netted 19 of 21 from the free throw lane and wound up with 33 tallies.

Frank Wyrick, Shippensburg ace, was held to 10 points.

HAD GREAT AVERAGE

BOSTON (AP)—Mel Parnell was compiling a brilliant American League record when the 32-year-old southpaw fractured his wrist last spring. He won only three games for the Red Sox after having averaged 18 victories a season for six years.

Art Houtteman of the Cleveland Indians had a peculiar pitching record when hurling for the Tigers in 1950. He led the American League in shutouts and also in most home runs allowed.

Favor Marciano Over Don Cockell

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano has been made an early 3-1 favorite to beat England's Don Cockell in their 15-round title fight in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium the week of May 16-20.

Broadway bookmakers set the price shortly after both fighters signed contracts yesterday at the International Boxing Club.

"We haven't picked the exact date," said President Jim Norris of the IBC. "because we don't know whether we will have home television or theater television."

WEST CHESTER QUALIFIES 8

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—West Chester today primed for semifinal and final rounds of the 13th annual State Teachers College Wrestling Tournament after qualifying eight men for the event.

The defending champions led the qualifying first round last night by placing one man in each of the eight weight classes for the semifinal matches.

Four of West Chester's entries drew byes for the first round at a coaches meeting preceding last night's matches. Four others secured their posts by whipping opposition.

Lock Haven was second among qualifiers with six followed by Millersville and Indiana with five each. Bloomsburg had four, East Stroudsburg two and Edinboro one.

The semi-final matches were to be held this afternoon followed by the finals tonight.

Iowa's Hawkeyes Face Michigan

CHICAGO (AP)—Iowa's Hawkeyes, aiming for the Big Ten basketball title, meet Michigan today before their showdown battle with Minnesota Monday night.

The Iowa-Michigan battle at Iowa City will be televised nationally (CBS-3 p.m. EST).

A victory would put the Hawkeyes in a first place tie with Minnesota, each with 10-2 league records.

Nashua Favored At Hialeah Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A dozen 3-year-old horses, including the highly-promising favorite, Nashua, will run the rich Flamingo stakes at Hialeah Park today.

But Boston Dodge, undefeated in eight starts, was not on the list when the entries were filed yesterday. Hialeah's racing secretary, Charles J. McLennan, said he received word the colt had a cough.

The Flamingo had shaped up as a duel between the speedy, blue-blooded Nashua and the surprising Boston Dodge. But the New England horse's failure to enter left Nashua as the favorite and odds of 4 to 3 were expected on him at post time, 4:50 p.m. (EST). Eddie Arcaro will ride him.

With 12 colts starting, all to carry 122 pounds over the mile and a furlong distance, the Flamingo will gross $141,800 and pay the winner $104,600.

COEDS DEFEAT PENN HALL SIX

Gettysburg College's girls won their sixth straight basketball victory Friday by outclassing Penn Hall 57-15 at Chambersburg.

Alice Davis landed 24 points for the Bullets, who led all the way. Barbara Black and Janice Schoab added 11 each. Valerie Bevan netted 10 for Penn Hall.

The Gettysburg reserves had an even easier time in the preliminary game when they triumphed 75-15. Shippensburg State Teachers College will be here for two games Monday evening, the preliminary game starting at 7 o'clock.

Carlisle Certain Of 2nd Half Tie By Lacing GHS 88-43; Jayvees Win 29-27

An impressive Carlisle High School basketball squad sewed up at least a tie for first place in the second half race of the South Penn League by walloping the Gettysburg High Warriors here Friday evening 88-43. The Carlisle total was the largest ever run up against a Gettysburg team on its home court.

Coach Gene Evans used two complete teams against the locals and every player broke into the scoring column. Clyde Washington, stellar scoring ace for the Herd, landed seven goals and 10 for 10 foul shots to be high man for the evening. The Carlisle flash played until five minutes had elapsed in the third period and did not re-enter the game.

Gettysburg held its own for six minutes of play after which the visitors ran up 12 straight points and from then on out there was never any doubt.

Hold Early Leads
The Warriors held the lead twice 4-2 and again at 10-8 after 6:00 but a layup by Rowe and a pair of fouls by Washington put the Herd in front and at the quarter the score was 20-10.

Merle Gorman opened the second period with a close shot. Keith and Weishaar exchanged goals and then Carlisle rolled to a 42-18 half time lead as the Warriors went without a goal during the last seven minutes.

Midway in the third period the Green and White led 24-16. A string of 16 straight points were landed by Carlisle before Rolf Johnson netted a lay-up early in the final period for Gettysburg. Johnson, who picked up 11 of his 17 points in the final stanza, collected the first four goals for the Forney-men during the round. The Carlisle reserves seldom missed on their shots to pile up the big total. Gorman, Pete Pennington and Jim Coleman rounded out the Gettysburg scoring with twin-pointers.

The Warriors have now lost 17 straight for an overall season record of 2-18. They close their campaign at Chambersburg Tuesday.

In one of the best preliminary games played here this season the Gettysburg High reserves took a thriller 29-27 to up season mark to 9-10.

Thrilling Finish
It was nip and tuck the entire way. The half ended 13-13 and the Warriors pulled ahead 21-19 going into the final frame. A pair of goals by Jack Crist enabled Coach Ellis' team to take a 27-25 lead with about two minutes left. Carlisle knotted the score and then with but five seconds remaining Ronald Fridinger was fouled. He calmly landed both shots to make it 29-27. Carlisle streaked down the court and Green was fouled just as the game ended. He missed both shots to insure the local victory. Earl Little, Bob Hess and Jon Wagnild all turned in important roles in the triumph.

SADDLER WINS OVER DAVIS; TO GO AFTER CARTER

NEW YORK (AP)—He's not the old Sandy Saddler of pre-Army days but the featherweight champion still is the best in his division by far.

He proved it once again last night by walloping 31-year-old Teddy Davis of Hartford with monotonous regularity en route to a unanimous decision in the title 15-rounder in Madison Square Garden.

Having disposed of the No. 1 contender of the 126-pound class, Sandy looked forward with eagerness today in the direction of lightweight king Jimmy Carter.

"That's the one we want next," said manager Charley Johnston. "Sandy has wiped out everyone else so we might as well go after Carter. I'm going to try and make it for May or June outdoors."

Davis' Hand Injured
"Carter? Sure, man, if there's money in it, he's the man for me," said Saddler.

Davis, the "loosest" challenger of all time with 47 previous defeats on a spotty record, blamed an injured right hand for his one-sided defeat.

There was a small lump on the hand about two inches back of the knuckle of his index finger.

"I hurt it in the third round when I hit him on the head," said Davis.

Both Were Warned
"He's a rough fighter—a dirty fighter," said Davis. "He breaks the rules. The referee should have taken a few rounds away from him."

Harry Kessler, who officiated, warned Sandy many times for holding and hitting and low punching but he didn't penalize the champion. He also warned Davis for his bullying.

Kessler scored it 11-3-1. Judge Harold Barnes had it 12-3 while Judge Bert Grant had it closest with a 9-6 score. The AP card was 10-3-2 for Saddler.

Gola, Stokes Are Added To East Team

NEW YORK (AP)—La Salle's Tom Gola and Maurice Stokes of St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., today were added to the East team in the ninth annual East-West college basketball game sponsored by The New York Herald-Tribune at Madison Square Garden March 26.

They join Duquesne's Dick Rickerts and Fordham's Ed Conlon on the 10-man East squad which will be coached by La Salle's Ken Loeffler. Oklahoma's Bruce Drake will coach the West.

Nashua Favored At Hialeah Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A dozen 3-year-old horses, including the highly-promising favorite, Nashua, will run the rich Flamingo stakes at Hialeah Park today.

But Boston Doge, undefeated in eight starts, was not on the list when the entries were filed yesterday.

Hialeah's racing secretary, Charles J. McLennan, said he received word the colt had a cough.

The Flamingo had shaped up as a duel between the speedy, blue-blooded Nashua and the surprising Boston Doge. But the New England horse's failure to enter led Nashua as the favorite and odds of 4 to 5 were expected on him at post time, 4:50 p.m. (EST). Eddie Arcazo will ride him.

With 12 colts starting, all to carry 122 pounds over the mile and a furlong distance, the Flamingo will gross $141,800 and pay the winner $104,600.

COEDS DEFEAT PENN HALL SIX

Alice Davis landed 24 points for the Bulletes who led all the way. Barbara Black and Janice Schoab added 11 each. Valerie Bevan netted 10 for Penn Hall.

The Gettysburg reserves had an even easier time in the preliminary game when they triumphed 75-15.

TRACK AND FIELD STARS IN GARDEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Spiced by the appearance of three national titleholders, the ICA track and field championships took over Madison Square Garden today with 671 athletes from 43 colleges seeking more than a dozen individual and relay titles.

Even the team championship is far from certain with Manhattan, Penn State and Boston University all attempting to grab off Yale's crown. The Ellis won it last year by a scant half-point over BU, but this time they don't appear to have the depth to repeat.

Manhattan, seven-time winner of the event which had a three-year streak snapped last year, was favored over both Penn State and BU, although the Jaspers will need every fourth and fifth they can muster. The team race is on a 5-4-3-2-1 basis.

Arnold Sowell of Pitt, Charlie Jenkins of Villanova and John Haines of Penn—along with the Syracuse two-mile relay team—all have been wearing national crowns the past week. Sowell tied the world indoor 1,000 mark of 2:08.2. Jenkins captured the 600 and Haines took the 60-yard dash in 6.1 which also ties the listed world record.

All will be favored.

WEST CHESTER QUALIFIES 8

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—West Chester today primed for semi-final and final rounds of the 13th annual State Teachers College Wrestling Tournament after qualifying eight men for the event.

The defending champions led the qualifying first round last night by placing one man in each of the eight weight classes for the semi-final matches.

Four of West Chester's entries drew byes for the first round at a coaches meeting preceding last night's matches. Four others secured their posts by whipping opposition.

Lock Haven was second among qualifiers with six followed by Millersville and Indiana with five each. Bloomsburg had four, East Stroudsburg two and Edinboro one.

The semi-final matches were to be held this afternoon followed by the finals tonight.

SQUIRES DROP 54-48 TILT TO WESTMINSTER 5

In an exciting nip and tuck game, Westminster defeated the Delone Squires 54-48 on the losers' court Friday evening.

Delone jumped to a quick 6-0 lead on free throws by Phil Staub and Buddy Redding and a jump shot by Dan Greenholt. After 4:00 of the game had gone by, the Marylanders finally connected for two points on Don Stimax's long set. Tom Boyer followed with a pair of foul shots while Bob Bair matched his one-handed push shot from the side against a pair of sets by Stimax and Wolfe. Warren Lewis connected on a free throw and Dan Greenholt cut loose with a long set shot. The quarter ended with four jump shots from the same place by Wolfe, Greenholt and Funk. At this point in the game, Delone held a slim 14-13 lead.

The second frame turned out to be a battle nerves. Greenholt landed a set and Carroll Funk tossed in a lay up and one-handed push shot from the corner. Wolfe capitalized on four free throws and a jump shot as Warren Lewis supplied the big punch by flipping in a pair of foul shots to put the Owls in front, 21-20, for the first time in the game.

Shilling attempted a foul shot and missed but Lewis followed through with a rebound. Tom Klunk connected on a tap in and Greenholt swished a long set as the buzzer sounded. Westminster had moved to 25-24 lead at half time.

Owls Boost Lead
The Marylanders added two more points to their lead in the third stanza as the outscored Delone 17-15. Don Stimax, Roger Wolfe and Chuck Sprinkle gave the Owls their added push from the foul line while Wolfe and Boyer were able to connect on five felled goals between them.

Delone received help on field goals from Funk, Greenholt, Redding and Breighner. Funk hooped two fouls and Tom Klunk one. At the end of the first three frames, Westminster had pulled out in front 32-29.

Lewis dumped a pair of charity tosses as the fourth period got underway. Greenholt came back and hit on two from the foul circle. Staub and Boyer matched lay-ups while Funk landed a long set and a layup on the fast break. Shilling looped a rebound and Tawney and Ecker contributed single foul shots.

With 1:30 minutes remaining in the game Westminster led by only three points, 50-47. Funk missed his first foul try but swished the second to cut the lead to two points. Jim Head pushed the Owls to 52-48, by dropping in a layup on a fast break. Delone missed the big chance to tie the count when Breighner and Greenholt failed to hit from the foul line. As the buzzer sounded Tawney was fouled and was able to add two more points to the final score.

Roger Wolfe, Westminster forward, was high man in the game with seven goals and six fouls for 20 points. Carroll Funk and Dan Greenholt led the Squires with 17 and 14 points respectively.

Reserves Win 11th
The Delone reserves picked up their second win over the Westminster reserves and 11th of the season against six losses, by trouncing the Little Owls 52-29. Delone jumped in front in the first period by outscoring their opponents 22-8 and were never in trouble after that. Chuck Dull and Gene Graft landed 12 and 10 points respectively for the Squires while Dan Gahr looped nine for the losers.

Today's Talk
TOOLS TO HAPPINESS
The expert mechanic, carpenter, and all those who work with tools insist upon those that are sharp and in the best possible condition. Otherwise their work would be of an inferior quality. And how proud a workman is of his tools that are in top condition at all times!
In like manner do we have tools to happiness, and if we keep them in prime condition our friendships will always be kept in repair, and we will want to be constantly building something about us to add to our efficiency and our personal happiness.
Courtesy, consideration for the rights of others, generosity, selflessness, faith and courage are but a few of the tools that are essential if we would be experts in the building of happiness, and we must always bear in mind that when we build for the happiness of others we build for our own.
Most of these tools to happiness may be ours throughout life, needing no replacements. Each day they are ours to use. We can even loan these tools to others, who use them to such good ends that they are inspired to own such tools as their own!
Most of us are born with a full set of tools to happiness, but never learn how to use them, or at most only a few of them, and so miss out on valuable friendships, delightful experiences, and much of the richness of life. The best of tools are useless if they are not put to use; besides, they soon rust if not used.
Dr. Albert Schweitzer, who gave up a brilliant career in music, theology, and medicine to go to "darkest Africa" that he might serve the humblest of human beings, once said that he did it to help compensate for all the goodness and beauty in the world that had been accorded to him. Few men have so inspired others to a life of service as has this selfless man.

Leader Wants Chesterman Report To Be Model For His Own Reorganization Program

By JOHN KOENIG JR.
HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader wants the Chesterman report of 1953—most ambitious scheme in history—to revamp the state government—to serve as the model for his own government reorganization program.

Leader told his weekly news conference Thursday he is recommending the report, which brought some 50 new bills to the General Assembly two years ago, as a "starting point."

"It would be very good if we should utilize at least some part of the report," the governor said. At the same time, Leader indicated that further amendments will be made to his enabling legislation for reorganization.

One such revision, he said, would be to insert a requirement that rejection of any reshuffling plan would require a constitutional majority in either the House or Senate.

Majority Is 106
As the enabling bill now stands, there could be a question as to whether a simple majority of those voting would be enough to kill a specific reorganization plan.

A constitutional majority in the House is 106 votes out of 210 members; in the Senate, 26 out of 50. Leader said the commonwealth's budget should be ready by early April.

However, he said he has asked for no recess of the Legislature to await arrival of that time.

"A recess is a matter purely for the Legislature itself to decide," the governor said. "We will continue to feed the Assembly our administration bills as fast as we can and that will give them a good bit of work."

Seek New Industry
The governor reported that the commerce secretary is "quite busy" working out a legislative program geared to expanding the commonwealth's program to bring new industry into the state. Leader held to his previous assertion that reorganization will be mostly a thing of the future—with the bulk of the revamping left over for the 1957 Legislature.

SCIENTIST SAYS H-BOMB IS NOT PEAK OF POWER

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The atomic scientist credited with ramrodding development of the H-bomb says it may not be the ultimate in atomic energy achievement—that there might be a surprise in store.

Dr. Edward Teller, professor of physics at the University of California, made the prediction in an article written for the magazine Science.

He wrote that the scientific skill and teamwork which developed the hydrogen "super" weapon should continue working in new directions. "The very size of our progress has opened up other dangers," he said. "We may be led to think that this accomplishment is something ultimate. I do not believe that this is so."

Not Bigger Bombs
"Where the next steps will lead I do not know. It is not likely that it will be just bigger bombs again. The world is full of surprises, and great developments rarely go in straight lines."

He added "We shall fail if we rest upon our accomplishments." Dr. Teller observed that he had been given "too much credit and perhaps too much blame" for events in connection with development of the H-bomb.

His article, entitled "The Work of Many People," named more than a score of scientists who deserved credit for the work. He repeated that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, former director of the Los Alamos laboratory which developed the A-bomb, encouraged him to continue research in the thermonuclear field when scientific opinion doubted if a "super" weapon could be made.

Puzzled By Oppenheimer
Less than a year ago, Dr. Teller, testified at an Atomic Energy Commission hearing that Oppenheimer—after the A-bomb was completed—"acted in a way which was for me exceedingly hard to understand."

Teller said at the hearing he preferred "to see the vital interests of the country in hands which I understand and therefore trust more."

As a result of the hearing, the AEC canceled Oppenheimer's security clearance and denied him access to further secret material. Teller said everyone who worked on the H-bomb felt its development was necessary for national security but "was appalled by the success and its possible consequences."

MANILA CONFAB BOLSTERS AREA AGAINST REDS

By MILTON MARMOR and DON HUTH

BANGKOK (AP)—The eight-nation Manila Pact conference ended Friday on a note of optimism that progress has been made in strengthening the area against aggression.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles told the closing session of the three-day meeting: "The way of the aggressor has been made harder." Gathered to implement the treaty signed in Manila last September, the delegates established a permanent secretariat in Bangkok and set up committees on military, anti-subversion and economic matters to put teeth into the pact. The eight nations are Pakistan, the Philippines, France, United States, Great Britain, New Zealand, Australia and Thailand.

Good Working Party
Dulles told the delegates: "We have taken decisions which will make the council of representatives an effective working party within the three areas dealt with by the pact, namely, defense against open, armed aggression; defense against subversion from without; and promotion of economic and social well-being."

In what seemed a reference to the touchy Formosa problem, Dulles said, "We have exchanged opinions about the over-all position in Asia. . . . There has been recognition of the gravity of the danger that confronts us and of the urgency in dealing with it."

"I am confident that sense of urgency will be carried into the work of our permanent representative and of our political, military and economic experts."

Formosa Is Discussed
Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden discussed Formosa at length Thursday night. Unofficial sources said Eden expressed the belief Red China would not invade Formosa. He is also understood to have urged that the coastal islands of Quemoy and the Matsu complex be abandoned by the Chinese Nationalists.

Dulles, honored by the delegates on his 67th birthday Friday, told the final session, "The independence of the treaty countries and the liberty of the peoples of the treaty area are more assured now than they were before we came. To turn that probability into a certainty will be a continuing task."

"It is one, however, that I am confident will be achieved provided that we retain the spirit which has been manifested by our gathering here."

Dulles offered to share 220 pounds of nuclear fuel with Manila pact members interested in building atomic research reactors. "Our Department of State and Atomic Energy Commission are ready to discuss with interested countries the negotiation of agreements for cooperation under which some of this nuclear fuel could be made available," Dulles said.

"Peaceful uses of the atom give a hopeful future of the atom becoming the servant of mankind rather than its destroyer."

JAPAN VOTES SUNDAY; WILL CHART COURSE

TOKYO (AP)—Japan votes tomorrow in a national election that will help set the nation's course in the cold war struggle between communism and the West.

It also will decide how fast Japan will rearm.

There are four major parties in the race, two conservative and two socialist. The Communists also are trying a minor comeback. Predictions are that the conservatives will pile up a commanding margin.

At stake are the 467 seats of the House of Representatives, which elects the prime minister and makes Japan's laws.

These major parties are in the race:
1. Prime Minister Ichiro Hato. yama's Democratic party (conservative), which now holds 124 seats in the lower House. Hato-yama, 71, favors increased trade and diplomatic ties with Japan's Communist neighbors, Russia and Red China, but says he does not want to weaken Japan's strong bonds with the United States.

Follow U. S. Policy
2. The equally conservative Liberal party of former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, largest now with 180 seats. The Liberals warn against going too far with Communist trade. They follow solidly American foreign policy.
3. The right Socialists, with 61 seats. They tend to favor a neutral course in the cold war and oppose rearmament, favored by both the conservative parties.
4. The left Socialists, with 74 seats. The leftists range from neutrality to pro-communism and are strongly opposed to rearming Japan.

5. The Communists, who have only one seat but have about 70 candidates in the race.

COURT CAUSTIC OVER EXPENSES

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—A request for a third group of mental experts to examine Robert B. Bechtel, 22, accused of slaying a fellow student at Swarthmore College, provoked sharp comment Friday from members of the Delaware County Court.

"I guess we'll have these requests in every homicide case from now on and probably will have to increase the court's budget to take care of it," asserted President Judge Henry G. Sweeney.

Judge William R. Toal put in: "Maybe we ought to tag $50,000 court costs on every murder case. This is the New Look."

The motion, asking for appointment of a sanity commission to examine Bechtel, was submitted by defense counsel Albert Blumberg, Asst. Dist. Atty. John R. Graham did not object.

Judge Sweeney, citing that the amended state Mental Health Act provides for the naming of such commissions, said the court would grant the motion. He then appointed Dr. George Wilson and Dr. Harvey Bartle Jr., Philadelphia psychiatrists, and Charles H. Heldmann, Media attorney.

Carlisle Certain Of 2nd Half Tie By Lacing GHS 88-43; Jayvees Win 29-27

An impressive Carlisle High School basketball squad served up at least a tie for first place in the second half race of the South Penn League Warriors here Friday evening 88-43. The Carlisle total was the largest ever run up against a Gettysburg team on its home court.

Coach Gene Evans used two complete teams against the locals and every player broke into the scoring column. Clyde Washington, stellar scoring ace for the Herd, landed seven goals and 10 for 10 foul shots to be high man for the evening. The Carlisle flash played until five minutes had elapsed in the third period and did not re-enter the game.

Gettysburg held its own for six minutes of play after which the visitors ran up 12 straight points and from then on out there was never any doubt.

Held Early Leads
The Warriors held the lead twice, 4-2 and again at 10-8 after 6:00 but a layup by Rowe and a pair of fouls by Washington put the Herd in front and at the quarter the score was 20-10.

Merle Gorman opened the second period with a close shot. Keim and Weishaar exchanged goals and then Carlisle rolled to a 42-18 half time lead as the Warriors went without a goal during the last seven minutes.

Midway in the third period the Green and White led 54-26. A string of 16 straight points were landed by Carlisle before Rolf Johnson netted a lay-up early in the final period for Gettysburg. Johnson, who picked up 11 of his 17 points in the final stanza, collected the first four goals for the Forney-men during the round. The Carlisle reserves seldom missed on their shots to pile up the big total. Gorman, Pete Pennington, and Jim Coleman rounded out the Gettysburg scoring with twin-pointers.

The Warriors have now lost 17 straight for an overall season record of 2-18. They close their campaign at Chambersburg Tuesday.

In one of the best preliminary games played here this season the Gettysburg 'High reserves took a thriller 29-27 to up season mark to 9-10.

Thrilling Finish

It was nip and tuck the entire way. The half ended 13-13 and the Warriors pulled ahead 21-19 going into the final frame. A pair of goals by Jack Crist enabled Coach Ellis' team to take a 27-25 lead with about two minutes left. Carlisle knotted the score and then with but five seconds remaining Ronald Fridinger was fouled. He calmly landed both shots to make it 29-27. Carlisle streaked down the court and Green was fouled just as the game ended. He missed both shots to insure the local victory. Earl Little, Bob Hess and Jon Wagnild all turned in important roles in the triumph.

JR. HI CAGERS DROP PAIR TO CARLISLE FOE

The Braves trailed 15-13 at intermission but were held two but four points in the last half, two in each period, as Carlisle pulled away to win handily.

Kenny Keefe led the Braves via three goals and four free tosses. Winger topped Carlisle with an even dozen.

The Braves, now 2-11 for the campaign, ring down the curtain on their season by meeting Chambersburg here Tuesday evening.

In the preliminary game the Carlisle reserves assumed a 20-7 lead in the first half and went on to triumph 30-19.

SADDLER WINS OVER DAVIS; TO GO AFTER CARTER

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—He's not the old Sandy Saddler of pre-Army days but the featherweight champion still is the best in his division by far.

He proved it once again last night by walloping 31-year-old Teddy Davis of Hartford with monotonous regularity en route to a unanimous decision in the title 15-rounder in Madison Square Garden.

Having disposed of the No. 1 contender of the 126-pound class, Sandy looked forward with eagerness today in the direction of lightweight king Jimmy Carter.

"That's the one we want next," said manager Charley Johnston. "Sandy has wiped out everyone else so we might as well go after Carter. I'm going to try and make it for May or June outdoors."

Davis' Hand Injured
"Carter? Sure, man, if there's money in it, he's the man for me," said Saddler.

Davis, the "loosest" challenger of all time with 47 previous defeats on a spotty record, blamed an injured right hand for his one-sided defeat.

There was a small lump on the hand about two inches back of the knuckle of his index finger.

"I hurt it in the third round when I hit him on the head," said Davis.

Both Were Warned
"He's a tough fighter—a dirty fighter," said Davis. "He breaks the rules. The referee should have taken a few rounds away from him."

Harry Kessler, who officiated, warned Sandy many times for holding and hitting and low punching but he didn't penalize the champion. He also warned Davis for his bullying.

Kessler scored it 11-3-1. Judge Harold Barnes had it 12-3 while Judge Bert Grant had it closest with a 9-6 score. The AP card was 10-3-2 for Saddler.

Had Great Average

BOSTON (AP)—Mel Parnell was compiling a brilliant American League record when the 32-year-old southpaw fractured his wrist last spring. He won only three games for the Red Sox after having averaged 18 victories a season for six years.

Art Houtteman of the Cleveland Indians had a peculiar pitching record when hurling for the Tigers in 1950. He led the American League in shutouts and also in most home runs allowed.

Favor Marciano Over Don Cockell

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano has been made an early 3-1 favorite to beat England's Don Cockell in their 15-round title fight in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium the week of May 16-20.

Broadway bookmakers set the price shortly after both fighters signed contracts yesterday at the International Boxing Club.

"We haven't picked the exact date," said President Jim Norris of the IBC. "because we don't know whether we will have movie television or theater television."

HOUSE OKAYS COMPROMISE PAY INCREASE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Friday approved without debate a compromise bill boosting the pay of members of Congress to $23,750 a year.

Its action sent the measure to the Senate.

The House passed the bill by unanimous consent after a clerk had read the adjustments, worked out by a senate-house committee. The committee split the difference between $25,000 voted by the House and $22,500 voted by the Senate. The present pay is $15,000.

The measure also carries pay raises of $7,500 to $10,000 for federal judges.

Effective March 1

The increases are to take effect next Tuesday.

The $23,750 finally agreed upon actually will amount to somewhat more than that. It is split into a $22,500 basic salary and a $1,250 tax-free expense fund. The tax exemption feature means this allowance actually is worth more than $1,250. But this money may be used only to meet "excess" office expenses of the members, and will be paid on itemized voucher.

The bill does not disturb a $3,000 deduction for income tax purposes which members now may claim for the extra cost of living expenses in Washington.

The measure also includes a Senate provision which is a big benefit to many members of Congress. It would give them expenses for five trips to their home state each year, in addition to the present 20 cents a mile for one round trip each session.

To Restore Buying Power

Some members said this could mean as much as $2,500 a year to a senator or representative who lives on the West Coast.

Backers of the bill said the salary fixed for members of Congress would restore their purchasing power to about what it was in 1939 when they got $10,000.

The over-all cost of the pay increases was estimated at about seven million dollars a year.

Meanwhile, the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee voted yesterday to give the 500,000 postal employees a 10 per cent pay hike, well above Eisenhower's recommendation.

The President asked 5 per cent for each worker, with higher benefits for top-grade employees to make it an average of 6½ per cent.

STATE STILL SEEKS LOCATION FOR HOSPITAL

HARRISBURG (AP)—John N. Forker, executive director of the General State Authority, said today efforts are continuing to find a site for a proposed new state mental hospital in Delaware County.

"The consensus of the board still is that the institution will be located in Delaware County," Forker told a reporter. "But if it can't be, another location will have to be found."

Legislation would be needed to change the site since a 1933 law authorizing the state's borrow-and-build agency to construct the institution named Delaware County as the site.

"Nothing Definite"

"When you are up against a stalemate you will talk about all possibilities," Forker said. "But nothing has been decided definitely on changing the county."

Forker said a dozen sites in Delaware County have been inspected with one at Chadd's Ford finally recommended. The authority board, however, did not accept the recommendation and a special board committee was named to continue efforts to find an acceptable site.

"I presume that new members of the board now will want a new report," Forker said.

Leader Is President

He referred to reorganization Thursday of the authority board with Gov. George M. Leader named as the new president, succeeding former Gov. John S. Fine.

CAUGHT AFTER CHASE, REFUSES TO GIVE NAME

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—A stolen automobile roared through Chester and three neighboring communities early Friday at speeds up to 90 miles an hour with gun-firing police hot in pursuit.

The driver ignored red lights, a roadblock and smashed into a parked car as he zigzagged wildly trying to elude police.

He finally was captured after his car tore through a mesh wire fence encircling the Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton plant in nearby Eddystone. He was hauled from the wreckage dazed and suffering from head injuries.

Had Loaded Pistol

Police said they found a fully-loaded pistol in the man's pocket which they said was stolen a week ago from the Lannoch Gun Shop.

Sewn into the lining of a vest the man wore were a couple of hacksaw blades, and the pockets were crammed with bullets.

The man refused to give his name or to answer any questions. In his pocket was a social security card with the name of Ramond Service Raye of Philadelphia and he was booked that way, though police placed a question mark in front of the name pending a check of his fingerprints.

Police said the car was stolen Jan. 31 from Emilio Piccarilli of Philadelphia.

Police chased the speeding car, being driven without lighted headlights, through Chester, Linwood, Eddystone and Trainer.

4 PERSONS DIE OF EXPOSURE

LONDON (AP)—Snow and freezing weather snarled traffic in Britain and many parts of Europe Friday. Two persons died of exposure in Britain and two in Austria.

Northern England was hardest hit with blizzards blocking many roads and marooning cars, buses and trucks.

About a foot of snow fell in Vienna, bringing traffic in the Austrian capital almost to a standstill.

British European Airways canceled flights from Belfast because of a blizzard. Thirty passengers spent the night at the Belfast airport when the air service bus stalled in the snow.

In southern Ireland, six inches of snow covered Shannon airport but operations were not interrupted.

A hailstorm peppered the French Riviera city of Cannes, leaving a slippery blanket three inches thick. Much of Germany was covered with snow.

Income of $467,487 for 1953.

Dodson said Thursday the heavy losses in 1954 were caused by coal mining operations and have been largely eliminated.

The company formally discontinued operations of its mining subsidiary on June 30, 1954, and since has leased about two-thirds of its coal properties to small producers. The rest of its anthracite workings are being kept on a standby basis for possible leasing.

Italian Senate Balks Red Effort

ROME (AP)—A Communist effort to delay Senate debate on ratification of the Paris treaties failed Friday.

A Communist senator proposed postponement until March 1 on the grounds the Christian Democrats were technically obstructing discussion by not being present to hear the Communist arguments.

That brought the Christian Democrats back to their seats.

Amid an angry exchange of words, the Senate President, Enrico Moles, refused to accept the Communist motion.

The Chamber of Deputies has already ratified the pact, Senate ap-

THE RED CROSS ANSWERS THE CALL!

A Message From the General Fund Chairmen!

Dear Friends:

It isn't easy to be far from home when there are family problems that need to be solved—or when illness or financial difficulties face someone dear to you. But is the plight of many of the men and women serving our armed forces at home and abroad.

"When you are in a hospital far from home, in traction and can't move, and the guy in the next bed is in about the same shape, it's pretty good to have the Red Cross come in and write letters or bring things not provided by the hospital."

"When I got hurt I wondered how my mother would stand the shock," said a veteran, "but the Red Cross went to our house and talked to her and she got along all right. At the hospital they taught me crafts that filled the long, idle hours and helped me choose a profession."

These are but a few instances pointing up the importance of membership in the Red Cross. For it is the Red Cross—yours and mine—that is uniquely equipped to perform such services.

If we join hands and pool our resources your Adams Chapter will meet its $15,473 goal—the American Red Cross can continue to represent us wherever there is a need.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

TOOLS TO HAPPINESS

The expert mechanic, carpenter, and all those who work with tools insist upon tools that are sharp and in the best possible condition. Otherwise their work would be of an inferior quality. And how proud a workman is of his tools that are in top condition at all times!

In like manner do we have tools to happiness, and if we keep them in prime condition our friendships will always be kept in repair, and we will want to be constantly building something about us to add to our efficiency and our personal happiness.

Courtesy, consideration for the rights of others, generosity, selflessness, faith and courage are but a few of the tools that are essential if we would be experts in the building of happiness, and we must always bear in mind that when we build for the happiness of others we build for our own.

Most of these tools to happiness may be ours throughout life, needing no replacements. Each day they are ours to use. We can even loan these tools to others, who use them to such good ends that they are inspired to own such tools as their own!

Most of us are born with a full set of tools to happiness, but never learn how to use them, or at most only a few of them, and so miss out on valuable friendships, delightful experiences, and much of the richness of life. The best of tools are useless if they are not put to use; besides, they soon rust if not used.

Dr. Albert Schweitzer, who gave up a brilliant career in music, theology, and medicine to go to "darkest Africa" that he might serve the humblest of human beings, once said that he did it to help compensate for all the goodness and beauty in the world that had been accorded to him. Few men have so inspired others to a life of service as has this selfless man.

WARNING TO GIRLS

Dear Girl: The simple truth I state,
The best of men will stay out late.
The kindest men are apt to think
They can't afford that coat of mine.
The perfect man that you pick out
Will leave his garments strewn about.

You'll find the man that love exalts,
When married, will display his faults.
That rare perfection you beheld,
When you're his wife will be dispelled,
And day by day, to your distress,
He'll leave the bathroom in a mess.

Your grandma often shook her head
At things your grandpa did or said.
Your mother, though she loved your dad,
Knew every weakness that he had;
And even Mamie may not like
Some traits that she has found in Ike.

So, dear, I warn you, be prepared.
The honeymoon you two have shared
So happily, in time, will wane
And you'll have reason to complain.
Be patient with him if you can.
No woman gets a perfect man.

General Is Named
Highway Engineer

HARRISBURG (AP)—Maj. Gen. George J. Richards (Ret.), Easton, has been named chief engineer for the state Highways Department in a "non-political appointment" by George M. Leader.

Leader appointed Richards to the $14,000-a-year post Thursday to succeed C. H. Buckius, who resigned.

The 64-year-old Richards, a 1916 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, retired from active duty with the U. S. Army Engineers in 1933.

Richards' previous experience in highways constructions includes road, bridge and map work in the United States, Mexico and Panama.

Most of the present residents of Haiti are descendants of the slaves imported from Africa by early French settlers.

CLINCH TITLE
THIS EVENING

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Coach Jack Gardner, who blew up a storm when he stepped out of the Big Seven with a pair of souvenirs, can make off with his first Skyline Conference basketball title tonight if his Utah kids defeat Colorado A&M as expected.

The lads who have made the difference are Gary Bergen, who moved to Utah with Gardner from K-State, and Art Bunte, who decided he liked Gardner's style, too after playing as a sophomore at Colorado.

With Bunte and Bergen, Gardner has been off and running this season, piling up a 10-1 record.

Beat Wyoming
The Utes, No. 8 in the Associated Press poll, left just one game between themselves and the Skyline title last night by disposing of second place Wyoming 78-57.

Colorado A&M, meanwhile, was clobbered by Brigham Young 94-65. In another game involving conference title rights, Missouri blasted Oklahoma 91-78 to keep pace with league leading Colorado in the Big Seven.

Colorado plays K-State tonight, then meets Missouri in the showdown Monday.

11th For Dukes
Duquesne, No. 4 in the poll, defeated Cincinnati a second time 68-60 for the Dukes' 11th straight.

In the Atlantic Coast Conference, where a tourney will decide the champ next week, Duke nailed down second place in the regular season by beating North Carolina 96-74.

Elsewhere in the ACC, Wake Forest defeated South Carolina 84-75.

Other Decisions
In the Southern Conference Washington and Lee defeated Davidson 63-52; and Virginia dropped a 78-72 decision to Virginia Tech.

The two Pacific Coast Conference division champs kept winning, UCLA, the Southern winner, barely topped Southern California 66-65, however, Oregon State, the Northern kingly, trounced Oregon 53-44, UCLA and Oregon State meet for the PCC title in a best-of-three set next week.

MAKE ATOMIC
TESTS ON NEW SITE, AUSTRALIA

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Britain will make atomic tests on a new site south of the existing Woomera rocket range in Australia later, this year, Supply Minister Howard Beale said in a statement today.

He said the tests would be "not atomic bomb explosions but detonations of high explosive charges to test techniques relating to atomic weapons." He reiterated earlier assurances they would not involve the H-bomb, which Britain has said it plans to make.

"There may be some radioactivity limited to a small area in the immediate neighborhood of the explosion but every precaution will be taken to ensure there is no danger to human beings or stock," he added.

It was believed the tests are aimed at perfecting triggering devices for atomic warheads and possibly for the H-bomb.

Beale indicated the tests would take place in an area accessible by road to the east-west railway line linking the new test field with the existing rocket range area to the north.

The Emu field base, used for the 1953 series of atomic weapon tests, is hundreds of miles across stony desert from Woomera.

The new site was envisaged as a permanent testing ground for weapons involving small atomic explosions.

Mid-Winter Re-check Is Due On Auto; Oil Change Good Now

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

An optimist is a motorist who is sure it's going to rain whenever his car needs a wash.

Re-check For Midwinter

With winter half way into history there's a natural tendency to let things slide and to look forward a bit hastily to the time when anti-freeze can be drained off and the snow tires put up for the year. Meanwhile winter is battering the car around, and calm appraisal decrees that it would be a good idea to re-check the various steps that were taken in late fall to protect the car for the rough season.

At this particular time many owners will find that even though they have used permanent type anti-freeze the cooling system is dangerously low on coolant. This may be the result of some slow leakage, over filling the radiator or perhaps a spell of overheating on a milk day when the high degree thermostat may have been too much for the cooling system. An oil change at this time will always pay dividends because the crankcase is certain to have been accumulating considerable diluent from too many cold, short runs. It might be well to have the battery tested, not merely with an hydrometer but with a voltmeter as well. Perhaps it could stand a charging for some cold weather yet ahead. Better starting can be assured through having the plugs cleaned again and the breaker points checked over. And nothing helps the chassis like a greasing even if the odometer doesn't quite say a thousand miles have been rolled off.

Pointer On Chatter

It's so simple many motorists overlook it, but if the car develops an annoying chatter throughout the chassis when the clutch is engaged for a start you may find that the rear springs are in need of auxiliary lubrication. While it is likely that the springs may be causing the chatter they should not be lubricated until other things have been checked because it is not well to lubricate modern springs unless there's no other way out. This sort of chassis chatter is not uncommon where cars have been considerable service.

Time For Replacement

Some of the less well designed sealed beam headlights do not have the lasting qualities owners assume, and for that reason it is a good idea to check for signs of deterioration. One of these is condensation within the bulb. Another is blackening. Still another is a deteriorated reflector. You may also find water in the bulb.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"If the car must stand out in the cold for a long period of time remember that a discharged or very weak battery may suffer. If the gravity is down to 1.150 freezing can occur at five degrees above zero. At 16 below a battery with a specific gravity of 1.200 will be damaged. If you do not already follow the rule, remember that a battery will be more effective in winter if there is less solution in its cells. Too much water weakens it."

"Even if fully charged a battery will freeze at about 85 degrees below. But few batteries are up to par, especially in cold weather when they are put to such hard work cranking the motor."

Not What You'd Expect

If you haven't already considered it, and if the car has developed a shimmy at speeds over 35 miles per hour, be sure to check into the possibility of an unbalanced rear wheel. This is just another one of those things that will cause disturbance, like a whipping propeller shaft. Many believe that the only reason for balancing rear wheels is to assure themselves a smoother ride, but it is also one of the factors which help to prevent front wheel shimmy.

What's In A Name?

Just as in the case of the word "permanent" which was used to describe anti-freeze that would last the winter through without additions, not something to leave in the cooling system indefinitely, so the industry has slipped in calling the newer tires "tubeless."

Inspection of these tires will show that what they really do is combine the tube with the shoe. The inner liner which varies widely in different tires serves to help retain air. It's a simpler arrangement, but it doesn't automatically end all tire worry or checking. They have already developed tire mending equipment for tubeless jobs which have picked up nails. A nail will not necessarily cause an immediate flat, which is a help certainly, but it should be removed. When the nail is removed the opening it has caused must be sealed and plugged. This doesn't apply to the premium "tubeless" tires which have sealant in their design such as is found in self-sealing inner tubes. However, all sharp objects always should be removed if discovered because they may in time cause more serious damage.

Main advantage of the "tubeless" job is the fact there's no thinwall inner tube under air pressure to burst if a break in the tire pinches it and causes a rupture. Air leakage from the newer tires is slow. Eliminated too is friction between the tube and shoe.

Mileage Is Oil Test

Even though high detergency oils have been on the market for some time many users still forget that it is no longer correct to judge the condition of oil, after being used in the engine, by its color. Detergents in the newer oils pick up organic matter from the valves, rings and other parts of the system and hold it in suspension until the oil is changed. What counts is car mileage, and also the way the car is used. If there is too much round-town driving in cold weather the crankcase will load up with diluents and that will shorten the effective usefulness of the oil.

Breaking Down Costs

As if you hadn't noticed it car operation costs are going up a bit. Current estimates is that it should cost the average wheel twirler a little over $900 to operate a car 10,000 miles. Of this amount the biggest expense will be depreciation, with gasoline coming along at just about half the leading expense. According to the AAA's study of this morbid subject the fixed costs, including insurance, licenses and depreciation figure $1.55 a day. The variable expenses, including fuel and oil, tires and maintenance add up to 3.54 cents per mile. The latter assumes that maintenance costs will not be over .74 cents per mile. If you run into some difficulties such as neglecting to have some important part of the car checked an extra repair bill could easily throw these figures into a dither. People who drive over 10,000 miles a year can figure a special depreciation allowance.

Having Their Troubles

Q. I notice that the oil pressure in the engine of my car is lower this winter than it was in the summer. What would cause this? The engine seems to run all right. J. L. B.

A. This is due to the very light oil you are using in order to be able to start the motor easily when it has been parked out all night. This is nothing to be concerned about.

Q. Is it all right to use cornstarch on the car's finish when doing a waxing job? I have been told that this speeds up the work. F. L.

A. It does speed the work by drying the wax faster. However, sprinkle the cornstarch on the cheesecloth used for the polishing, not directly on the finish.

Q. My car has developed the habit of wandering over the road, unless I keep holding it to a straight course. The trouble is more pronounced when there are passengers on the rear seat. Wm. K. G.

A. You will probably find that there are sagged rear springs, but of course have the front end checked for misalignment too.

Q. Do you recommend flushing out the engine's oiling system? The car is two years old and I have used detergent oils regularly. N. F.

A. Those detergent oils have a cleansing effect so it should not be necessary to do any flushing. With an old engine the oil pan should first be taken down and accumulated sludge manually cleaned out. Then use regular oil with an additive, replacing this after driving the car for about 200 miles on the open road.

2. I notice that the engine seems sluggish after it gets well warmed up. Oddly enough the car will climb a steep hill in high when cold but will lose enough speed to require second when hot. But there is no evidence of overheating. K. McB.

A. You will find that this is due to the manifold heat control valve sticking. It remains in the position where incoming gas mixture is continually preheated.

Q. I have been told that by having thin coil springs wrapped around the brake drums vibrations in the brakes will be checked effectively. This sounds like a makeshift remedy to me. What should be done? K. N. F.

A. One of the finest American cars is factory equipped with such spring vibration dampers and has used them successfully for years. The first step, however, is to have the brake shoes readjusted. They may not be concentric with their drums. Lining may be too light. The ends of the lining may need to be cut back.

Q. I have noticed that whenever I turn into a very steep grade with no opportunity to get up speed the car seems to have little power and keeps me guessing as to whether the engine will hold out. The car is equipped with an automatic transmission. N. McM.

A. It is just due to your failure to move the selector lever into "low" position for this sort of climb. In "Drive" the transmission is trying to shift "up" every time the car gets up a little speed, and of course the grade is too steep for that.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address

RESCUE YOUTH TRAPPED 12 HRS. IN AIR SHAFT

NEW YORK (AP)—Screaming in pain, a 20-year-old youth was rescued Friday from a narrow air shaft down which he had plunged almost 12 stories 12 hours earlier.

"Get me out of here," he cried as police emergency squads battered frantically at walls of the shaft between the first and second floors.

"I think my arms and legs are broken, they're all numb," wailed the wedged youth just as the emergency workers finally broke through to free him some three hours after they began their efforts.

The youth, who identified himself as James Anderson, wedged behind pipes in the tiny airshaft—18 inches by five feet—about 9 o'clock Thursday night.

He said a companion bent on burglarizing the office and storage building at 121-123 East 24th St. had forced him at gunpoint to jump through a skylight atop the building, which they had reached by way of fire escapes.

Landed In Shaft

But instead of landing on a floor underneath the skylight, he said, he hurtled downward in black space. Near the bottom he stuck between some pipes and the airshaft wall.

At dawn Friday a building worker, Michael Reedy, unlocked a door on the ground level and heard Anderson's muffled pleas for aid. Reedy raced to a hotel situated next door, and employees there summoned police.

Emergency squads went to work. They guided their efforts by the sound of Anderson's voice.

After breaking through at a point between the ground floor and a basement level, they found they had missed their target. So they went to work again.

Held Gun At Head

At last they broke through near enough for a doctor to give the youth an injection to ease his pain, and then at 9:20 a.m.—almost 12 hours from the time of his plunge—they worked him free.

They found him wedged in a "u" position. He apparently suffered a broken arm, a broken leg and back injuries.

As the men worked, Anderson gave his story in bits and pieces. "My partner held a .38 caliber gun to my head and told me to jump through the skylight," he said.

"He wanted me to get into the building and pass stuff up to him. I told him I wouldn't do it. "My partner put the gun to my head and I jumped. The next thing I remember I was entangled in these pipes. I called for help and no one answered."

Nationalist China Abandons Nanchishan To Chinese Reds In Bloodless Win For Commies

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China Friday abandoned tiny Nanchishan to the Chinese Reds, giving the Communists another bloodless victory in their civil war.

The Defense Ministry said the evacuation was carried out without U.S. assistance and with no interference by the Reds.

The ministry refused to divulge the number of troops involved, but the garrison of regulars and guerrillas totaled perhaps 5,000.

Blow Up Fortification

A ministry spokesman said the island's fortifications were blown up before the withdrawal and all supplies and equipment were brought to Formosa.

The entire civilian population, a little more than 2,000, chose to leave rather than come under Red rule, the spokesman told a news conference. All arrived safely in Formosa.

"Not a single person remained behind," he said. Nationalist spokesmen insisted right up to the end that Nanchishan would be defended.

Ended At Noon

The operation began at 7 p.m. Wednesday and ended at noon Friday. Nationalist warplanes flew a protective umbrella over the convoy to Keelung harbor.

Nanchishan, 140 miles north of Formosa and 23 miles off the Red mainland, was the northern anchor of Chiang Kai-shek's chain of offshore island outposts.

Its loss followed by less than three weeks the evacuation of the Tachen Islands, 200 miles north of Formosa. The Tachens were surrendered without a fight after Ykiangshan, eight miles to the north.

Front At Matsuo

The evacuation of Nanchishan rolled the civil war front southward to the Matsuo complex, 100 miles northwest of Formosa and about 20 miles off the mainland. Besides the Matsuo, the Nationalists hold only Quemoy Island outside the U.S.-protected Formosa defense zone, which includes Formosa and the nearby Pescadores.

The Matsuo are opposite a red port, Foochow, just as Quemoy is off Amoy, another Red port.

The Nationalists decided to abandon three-square-mile Nanchishan because of U.S. refusal to aid in its defense.

To Move In Fast

The Communists were expected to move into the island quickly just as they did the Tachens after those islands were evacuated with U.S. 7th Fleet assistance.

In the view of Washington officials, Nanchishan had strategic value to the Nationalists as a radar post from which to watch Red air and sea movements along the coast. It has considerable psychological value to the Reds as a place to be exploited as evidence of Communist invincibility in the Far East.

Plan Was Kept Secret

Col. Hsiung Engteh, Defense Ministry spokesman, told a news conference the evacuation of Nanchishan was planned at the same time as the Tachen pullout. The plan was kept secret, he said, for security reasons.

That brought some blunt questions from foreign correspondents regarding frequent statements by Nationalist spokesmen that Nanchishan would be defended.

One correspondent charged the press had been "deliberately misled." Another declared, "You used the world press to fool the Reds." Still another expressed resentment at having been "gratuitously informed" Thursday that Nanchishan would not be abandoned—at the very time the evacuation was in process.

No Americans

Reporters and photographers went to Keelung harbor Friday morning to cover the expected arrival of the garrison. After hours of waiting they were told the destination was elsewhere in Formosa.

The civilians, however, were landed at Keelung and quartered in the same schools and buildings that housed the Tachen refugees. Most of those from the Tachens are being dispersed to other parts of Formosa.

Hsiung said there were no Americans stationed on Nanchishan, as there had been on the Tachens.

"Strike Power" Voted To Board Of CIO

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 37-member executive board of CIO Transport Workers Union, Local 234, has voted its staff officers "strike power" if the Philadelphia Transportation Co. carries out its planned layoffs of some 200 maintenance employees.

Local president Paul O'Rourke said Thursday he would recommend the "full strike if necessary" resolution to the 250-member joint executive board at a meeting to be held later in the week.

The company has offered to discuss the plan with the union, but insists that any walkout plans would be in direct violation of the "no strike" clause in the management-union contract.

HOUSE OKAYS COMPROMISE PAY INCREASE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Friday approved without debate a compromise bill boosting the pay of members of Congress to $23,750 a year.

Its action sent the measure to the Senate.

The House passed the bill by unanimous consent after a clerk had read the adjustments, worked out by a senate-house committee. The committee split the difference between $25,000 voted by the House and $22,500 voted by the Senate. The present pay is $15,000.

The measure also carries pay raises of $7,500 to $10,000 for federal judges.

Effective March 1

The increases are to take effect next Tuesday.

The $23,750 finally agreed upon actually will amount to somewhat more than that. It is split into a $22,500 basic salary and a $1,250 tax-free expense fund. The tax exemption feature means this allowance actually is worth more than $1,250. But this money may be used only to meet "excess" office expenses of the members, and will be paid on itemized voucher.

The bill does not disturb a $3,000 deduction for income tax purposes which members now may claim for the extra cost of living expenses in Washington.

The measure also includes a Senate provision which is a big benefit to many members of Congress. It would give them expenses for five trips to their home state each year, in addition to the present 20 cents a mile for one round trip each session.

To Restore Buying Power

Some members said this could mean as much as $2,500 a year to a senator or representative who lives on the West Coast.

Backers of the bill said the salary fixed for members of Congress would restore their purchasing power to about what it was in 1939 when they got $10,000.

The over-all cost of the pay increases was estimated at about seven million dollars a year.

Meanwhile, the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee voted yesterday to give the 500,000 postal employees a 10 per cent pay hike, well above Eisenhower's recommendation.

The President asked 5 per cent for each worker, with higher benefits for top-grade employees to make it an average of 6½ per cent.

STATE STILL SEEKS LOCATION FOR HOSPITAL

HARRISBURG (AP)—John N. Forker, executive director of the General State Authority, said today efforts are continuing to find a site for a proposed new state mental hospital in Delaware County.

"The consensus of the board still is that the institution will be located in Delaware County," Forker told a reporter. "But, if it can't be, another location will have to be found."

Legislation would be needed to change the site since a 1953 law authorizing the state's borrow-and-build agency to construct the institution named Delaware County as the site.

"Nothing Definite"

"When you are up against a stalemate you will talk about all possibilities," Forker said. "But nothing has been decided definitely on changing the county."

Forker said a dozen sites in Delaware County have been inspected with one at Chadd's Ford finally recommended. The authority board, however, did not accept the recommendation and a special board committee was named to continue efforts to find an acceptable site.

"I presume that new members of the board now will want a new report," Forker said.

Leader Is President

He referred to reorganization Thursday of the authority board with Gov. George M. Leader named as the new president, succeeding former Gov. John S. Fine.

Despite Losses, Coal Operator Optimistic

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—C. M. Dodson, president of Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co., has an optimistic outlook for the company this year, despite an annual report which showed a net loss of $1,396,484 for 1954, compared with a net

CAUGHT AFTER CHASE, REFUSES TO GIVE NAME

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—A stolen automobile roared through Chester and three neighboring communities early Friday at speeds up to 90 miles an hour with gun-firing police hot in pursuit.

The driver ignored red lights, a roadblock and smashed into a parked car as he zigzagged wildly trying to elude police.

He finally was captured after his car tore through a mesh wire fence encircling the Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton plant in nearby Eddystone. He was hauled from the wreckage dazed and suffering from head injuries.

Had Loaded Pistol

Police said they found a fully-loaded pistol in the man's pocket which they said was stolen a week ago from the Lannerch Gun Shop.

Sewn into the lining of a vest the man wore were a couple of hacksaw blades, and the pockets were crammed with bullets.

The man refused to give his name or to answer any questions. In his pocket was a social security card with the name of Ramond Service Raye of Philadelphia and he was booked that way, though police placed a question mark in front of the name pending a check of his fingerprints.

Police said the car was stolen Jan. 31 from Emilio Piccarilli of Philadelphia.

Police chased the speeding car, being driven without lighted headlights, through Chester, Edinwood, Eddystone and Trainer.

4 PERSONS DIE OF EXPOSURE

LONDON (AP)—Snow and freezing weather snarled traffic in Britain and many parts of Europe Friday. Two persons died of exposure in Britain and two in Austria.

Northern England was hardest hit with blizzards blocking many roads and marooning cars, buses and trucks.

About a foot of snow fell in Vienna, bringing traffic in the Austrian capital almost to a standstill.

British European Airways canceled flights from Belfast because of a blizzard. Thirty passengers spent the night at the Belfast airport when the air service bus stalled in the snow.

In southern Ireland, six inches of snow covered Shannon airport but operations were not interrupted.

A hailstorm peppered the French Riviera city of Cannes, leaving a slippery blanket three inches thick. Much of Germany was covered with snow.

Income of $467,487 for 1953.

Dodson said Thursday the heavy losses in 1954 were caused by coal mining operations and have been largely eliminated.

The company formally discontinued operations of its mining subsidiary on June 30, 1954, and since has leased about two-thirds of its coal properties to small producers. The rest of its anthracite workings are being kept on a standby basis for possible leasing.

Italian Senate Balks Red Effort

ROME (AP)—A Communist effort to delay Senate debate on ratification of the Paris treaties failed Friday.

A Communist senator proposed postponement until March 1 on the grounds the Christian Democrats were technically obstructing discussion by not being present to hear the Communist arguments.

That brought the Christian Democrats back to their seats.

Amid an angry exchange of words, the Senate President, Enrico Moles, refused to accept the Communist motion.

The Chamber of Deputies has already ratified the pact, Senate approval is expected. Debate started yesterday.

MUSICIANS LAND IGNORE PROTEST

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite protests by the New York City local of the AFL American Federation of Musicians, the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra has arrived here without incident.

Plans by Local 802 to stage demonstrations and picket the 104-member orchestra failed to materialize Thursday when the musicians landed at Idlewild.

The local has contended that the orchestra's conductor, Herbert von Karajan, and its manager, Dr. Gerhard von Westernman, have Nazi party records.

Nothing On Politics

At the airport, Von Karajan told newsmen: "I occupy myself with music. I have nothing to say about politics. I come here as a musician."

The orchestra opens a series of 26 concerts in the United States and Canada with one in Washington this Sunday. The New York opening has been set for March 1 at Carnegie Hall.

During the five-week tour the orchestra will visit 21 cities.

THE RED CROSS ANSWERS THE CALL!

A Message From the General Fund Chairmen!

Dear Friends:

It isn't easy to be far from home when there are family problems that need to be solved—or when illness or financial difficulties face someone dear to you. But is the plight of many of the men and women serving our armed forces at home and abroad.

"When you are in a hospital far from home, in traction and can't move, and the guy in the next bed is in about the same shape, it's pretty good to have the Red Cross come in and write letters or bring things not provided by the hospital."

"When I got hurt I wondered how my mother would stand the shock," said a veteran, "but the Red Cross went to our house and talked to her and she got along all right. At the hospital they taught me crafts, that filled the long, idle hours and helped me choose a profession."

These are but a few instances pointing up the importance of membership in the Red Cross. For it is the Red Cross—yours and mine—that is uniquely equipped to perform such services.

If we join hands and pool our resources your Adams Chapter will meet its $15,473 goal—the American Red Cross can continue to represent us wherever there is a need.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Leader Wants Chesterman Report To Be Model For His Own Reorganization Program

By JOHN KOENIG JR.
HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader wants the Chesterman report of 1953—most ambitious scheme in history to revamp the state government—to serve as the model for his own government reorganization program.

Leader told his weekly news conference Thursday he is recommending the report, which brought some 50 new bills to the General Assembly two years ago, as a "starting point."

"It would be very good if we should utilize at least some part of the report," the governor said. At the same time, Leader indicated that further amendments will be made to his enabling legislation for reorganization.

One such revision, he said, would be to insert a requirement that rejection of any reshuffling plan would require a constitutional majority in either the House or Senate.

Majority Is 108

As the enabling bill now stands, there could be a question as to whether a simple majority of those voting would be enough to kill a specific reorganization plan.

A constitutional majority in the House is 108 votes out of 210 members; in the Senate, 26 out of 50. Leader said the commonwealth's budget should be ready by early April.

However, he said he has asked for no recess of the Legislature to await arrival of that time.

"A recess is a matter purely for the Legislature itself to decide," the governor said. "We will continue to feed the Assembly our administration bills as fast as we can and that will give them a good bit of work."

Seek New Industry

The governor reported that the commerce secretary is "quite busy" working out a legislative program geared to expanding the commonwealth's program to bring new industry into the state.

Leader held to his previous assertion that reorganization will be mostly a thing of the future—with the bulk of the revamping left over for the 1957 Legislature.

SCIENTIST SAYS H-BOMB IS NOT PEAK OF POWER

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The atomic scientist credited with ram-rod development of the H-bomb says it may not be the ultimate in atomic energy achievement—that there might be a surprise in store.

Dr. Edward Teller, professor of physics at the University of California, made the prediction in an article written for the magazine Science.

He wrote that the scientific skill and teamwork which developed the hydrogen "super" weapon should continue working in new directions.

"The very size of our progress has opened up other dangers," he said. "We may be led to think that this accomplishment is something ultimate. I do not believe that this is so."

Not Bigger Bombs

"Where the next steps will lead I do not know. It is not likely that it will be just bigger bombs again. The world is full of surprises, and great developments rarely go in straight lines."

He added "we shall fail if we rest upon our accomplishments."

Dr. Teller observed that he had been given "too much credit and perhaps too much blame" for events in connection with development of the H-bomb.

His article, entitled "The Work of Many People," named more than a score of scientists who deserved credit for the work. He repeated that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, former director of the Los Alamos laboratory which developed the A-bomb, encouraged him to continue research in the thermonuclear field when scientific opinion doubted if a "super" weapon could be made.

Fuzzled By Oppenheimer

Less than a year ago, Dr. Teller, testified at an Atomic Energy Commission hearing that Oppenheimer—after the A-bomb—was completed—"acted in a way which was for me exceedingly hard to understand."

Teller said at the hearing he preferred "to see the vital interests of the country in hands which I understand and therefore trust more."

As a result of the hearing, the AEC canceled Oppenheimer's security clearance and denied him access to further secret material.

Teller said everyone who worked on the H-bomb felt its development was necessary for national security but "was appalled by the success and its possible consequences."

MANILA CONFAB BOLSTERS AREA AGAINST REDS

By MILTON MARMOR and DON RUTH
BANGKOK (AP)—The eight-nation Manila Pact conference ended Friday on a note of optimism that progress has been made in strengthening the area against aggression.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles told the closing session of the three-day meeting:

"The way of the aggressor has been made harder."

Gathered to implement the treaty signed in Manila last September, the delegates established a permanent secretariat in Bangkok and set up committees on military, antisubversion and economic matters to put teeth into the pact.

The eight nations are Pakistan, the Philippines, France, United States, Great Britain, New Zealand, Australia and Thailand.

Good Working Party

Dulles told the delegates:

"We have taken decisions which will make the council of representatives an effective working party within the three areas dealt with by the pact, namely, defense against open, armed aggression; defense against subversion from without; and promotion of economic and social well-being."

In what seemed a reference to the touchy Formosa problem, Dulles said, "We have exchanged opinions about the over-all position in Asia. . . . There has been recognition of the gravity of the danger that confronts us and of the urgency in dealing with it."

"I am confident that sense of urgency will be carried into the work of our permanent representative and of our political, military and economic experts."

Formosa Is Discussed

Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden discussed Formosa at length Thursday night. Unofficial sources said Eden expressed the belief Red China would not invade Formosa. He is also understood to have urged that the coastal islands of Quemoy and the Matsu complex be abandoned by the Chinese Nationalists.

Dulles, honored by the delegates on his 67th birthday Friday, told the final session, "The independence of the treaty countries and the liberty of the peoples of the treaty area are more assured now than they were before we came. To turn that probability into a certainty will be a continuing task."

"It is one, however, that I am confident will be achieved provided that we retain the spirit which has been manifested by our gathering here."

Dulles offered to share 220 pounds of nuclear fuel with Manila pact members interested in building atomic research reactors.

"Our Department of State and Atomic Energy Commission are ready to discuss with interested countries the negotiation of agreements for cooperation under which some of this nuclear fuel could be made available," Dulles said.

"Peaceful uses of the atom give a hopeful future of the atom becoming the servant of mankind rather than its destroyer."

JAPAN VOTES SUNDAY; WILL CHART COURSE

TOKYO (AP)—Japan votes tomorrow in a national election that will help set the nation's course in the cold war struggle between communism and the West.

It also will decide how fast Japan will rearm.

There are four major parties in the race, two conservative and two socialist. The Communists also are trying a minor comeback.

Predictions are that the conservatives will pile up a commanding margin.

At stake are the 467 seats of the House of Representatives, which elects the prime minister and makes Japan's laws.

These major parties are in the race:

1. Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama's Democratic party (conservative), which now holds 124 seats in the lower House. Hatoyama, 71, favors increased trade and diplomatic ties with Japan's Communist neighbors, Russia and Red China, but says he does not want to weaken Japan's strong bonds with the United States.
2. The equally conservative Liberal party of former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, largest now with 180 seats. The Liberals warn against going too far with Communism trade. They follow solidly American foreign policy.
3. The right Socialists, with 61 seats. They tend to favor a neutral course in the cold war and oppose rearmament, favored by both the conservative parties.
4. The left Socialists, with 74 seats. The leftists range from neutralism to pro-communism and are strongly opposed to rearming Japan.
5. The Communists, who have only one seat but have about 70 candidates in the race.

COURT CAUSTIC OVER EXPENSES

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—A request for a third group of mental experts to examine Robert B. Bechtel, 22, accused of slaying a fellow student at Swarthmore College, provoked sharp comment Friday from members of the Delaware County Court.

"I guess we'll have these requests in every homicide case from now on and probably will have to increase the court's budget to take care of it," asserted President Judge Henry G. Sweney.

Judge William R. Toal put in: "Maybe we ought to tag $50,000 court costs on every murder case. This is the New Look."

The motion, asking for appointment of a sanity commission to examine Bechtel, was submitted by defense counsel Albert Blumberg, Asst. Dist. Atty. John R. Graham did not object.

Judge Sweney, citing that the amended state Mental Health Act provides for the naming of such commissions, said the court would grant the motion. He then appointed Dr. George Wilson and Dr. Harvey Bartle Jr., Philadelphia psychiatrists, and Charles H. Heidmann, Media attorney.

German Socialists Again Beaten In New Effort To Suspend Debate On Treaty

By BRACK CURRY

BONN, Germany (AP)—Parliament Friday defeated overwhelmingly a new attempt by the Socialist opposition to suspend debate on the Paris treaties to free and rearm West Germany.

It was the second such unsuccessful maneuver by the Socialists since the three-day debate on treaty ratification started Thursday in the Bundestag (lower house).

A spokesman for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party told the deputies that the Saar, whose future "European" status under the Paris pacts touched off a rebellion by two parties of the governing coalition, is "German territory."

The spokesman, Otto Lenz, said it was "regrettable that France has linked the Saar agreement with the Paris treaties." But he said nobody had any better solution for determining the future of the Saar. That industrially rich territory, German before World War II, now is virtually autonomous but tied to France economically.

Will Hold Plebiscite

But he emphasized the Saar will have an opportunity to decide its own political future at a plebiscite. Lenz declared that the Saar government of Premier Johannes Hoffmann has "consistently pursued an anti-German attitude."

Heavily armed and reinforced police numbering 1,300 braced themselves for another day of street demonstrations by Red agitators shouting anti-American slogans. Hundreds of Communists, including 120 imported from the Ruhr for the occasion, tried to cause trouble at key points yesterday. Police cooled their ardor with water cannon which drenched them during a snowstorm. A dozen were arrested.

Shop Windows Broken

Some shop windows were broken before downtown squares were cleared after dark.

As two government coalition parties—the Free Democrats (FDP) and the Refugees (BHE)—defied the Chancellor's stand on the Saar, Adenauer marshaled his own Christian Democrats behind the plan. Under it the Saar would be put under a neutral commissioner. Adenauer was ready to make an impassioned appeal for the Saar plan as the price for freeing West Germany and allying it with the West.

Has Slim Majority

Despite the wholesale desertions by his allies, Adenauer still claims a slim majority in the 487-member Bundestag for the pact. It must be accepted in the Paris "treaty package" if the French are to approve West German rearmament. Thus the question of whether 50,000 Germans will be armed for

BRANDO DOLLS UP FOR DEBUT

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A new Marlon Brando, dapper in a tuxedo, made his Hollywood social debut Thursday night.

Brando, heretofore the leading exponent of the sweat shirt school of acting, accepted an award of the Hollywood Foreign Correspondents' Assn. and the Foreign Press Assn. for the best performance by a dramatic actor in 1954. The associations' members are reporters from foreign countries who cover Hollywood.

Brando, whose portrayal of the punchy pug of "On the Waterfront," is among the top contenders for an Oscar. He said that he would attend his first Academy Award presentation March 30.

"I hope I'm lucky enough to win it," he said.

In addition to Brando's award, the association awarded "Golden Globes" to Grace Kelly for the best actress performance; Judy Garland and James Mason, best in a musical film; "Carmen Jones," best musical; Jan Sterling and Edmond O'Brien, best supporting actors; "Brigadoon," best color photography, and "Sabrina," best screen play.

Gregory Peck and Audrey Hepburn were acclaimed as the most popular stars in the 50 nations represented by the associations.

The average housewife spends a third to half of her working day in the purchase, preparation and care of food and in related activities, says the Twentieth Century Fund.

Western defense hinges on Adenauer's victory in this fight. The Chancellor's Christian Democrats hold 244 seats in the Bundestag—a one-vote majority—and he probably can depend on the fourth party to the coalition, the German party with 15 votes. The defiant Free Democrats and Refugees combined have 74 votes, most of which undoubtedly will oppose the Saar pact. The Socialists, main opposition group with 151 seats, have fought bitterly the government's entire program to rearm West Germany before seeking talks with Russia on unifying Germany.

There are three independent members of the Bundestag. In Thursday's 9½-hour debate, government and opposition clashed over the biggest question of all: Will ratification of the Paris treaties hinder reunification of Germany? The Socialists insist it will.

But there was remarkable agreement on one point. All parties joined in a demand that the Adenauer government be invited as an equal to any Western big power talks with Russia on Germany.

The four government parties and the Socialists also called in a joint resolution for the immediate establishment of an Allied-West German mission to "examine all peaceful means" of ending Germany's partition.

IRAQ, TURKEY FINISH PACT

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Iraq and Turkey applied the final binders today to their new mutual defense alliance, despite mounting Arab opposition.

The Parliaments of both nations were expected to give speedy approval to the pact signed in Baghdad Thursday by Premiers Nuri Said of Iraq and Adnan Menderes of Turkey.

Meanwhile, Iraq attempted to soothe her ruffled partners in the eight-nation Arab League with assurances the treaty pledges both sides to guarantee "enforcement of United Nations resolutions on the Palestine question."

U.N. resolutions include recommendations that Jerusalem be internationalized and that Israelis finally liquidate the 1948 state of war by signing peace treaties.

The Iraqi government also disclosed that the pact leaves the way open for all Arab Asian states and "other countries concerned with security of the area" to join the pact designed to bolster the Middle East against Red aggression. This could include the United States and other Western nations.

U.S. RELEASING 7 FISHERMEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new effort to obtain the release of 15 American fliers jailed in Red China is being made by the United States — by setting an example.

It is returning to Red China seven fishermen rescued by U.S. Air Force planes after they were stranded on a reef about 200 miles off Indochina. The fishermen came from Hainan Island, just off the Red China Coast.

American officials reported the incident to Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the U.N., emphasizing the United States behaves in a civilized way and sends castaways home as quickly as possible.

Hammarskjold made an unsuccessful effort last month to persuade Red China to release the American fliers, captured during the Korean War. Eleven of them have been sentenced to prison terms as "spies."

Officials said yesterday the Red Chinese fishermen were rescued last May and taken to an Air Force base at Manila.

Straw shoes for horses were used in Japan until the 19th century when iron shoes were introduced.

Mid-Winter Re-check Is Due On Auto; Oil Change Good Now

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

erable service.

Time For Replacement

Some of the less well designed sealed beam headlights do not have the lasting qualities owners assume, and for that reason it is a good idea to check for signs of deterioration. One of these is condensation within the bulb. Another is blackening. Still another is a deteriorated reflector. You may also find water in the bulb.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"If the car must stand out in the cold for a long period of time remember that a discharged or very weak battery may suffer. If the gravity is down to 1.150 freezing can occur at five degrees above zero. At 16 below a battery with a specific gravity of 1.200 will be damaged. If you do not already follow the rule, remember that a battery will be more effective in winter if there is less solution in its cells. Too much water weakens it.

"Even if fully charged a battery will freeze at about 85 degrees below. But few batteries are up to par, especially in cold weather when they are put to such hard work cranking the motor."

Not What You'd Expect

If you haven't already considered it, and if the car has developed a shimmy at speeds over 35 miles per hour, be sure to check into the possibility of an unbalanced rear wheel. This is just another one of those things that will cause disturbance, like a whipping propeller shaft. Many believe that the only reason for balancing rear wheels is to assure themselves a smoother ride, but it is also one of the factors which help to prevent front wheel shimmy.

What's In A Name?

Just as in the case of the word "permanent" which was used to describe anti-freeze that would last the winter through without additions, not something to leave in the cooling system indefinitely, so the industry has slipped in calling the newer tires "tubeless."

Inspection of these tires will show that what they really do is combine the tube with the shoe. The inner liner which varies widely in different tires serves to help retain air. It's a simpler arrangement, but it doesn't automatically end all tire worry or checking. They have already developed tire mending equipment for tubeless jobs which have picked up nails. A nail will not necessarily cause an immediate flat, which is a help certainly, but it should be removed. When the nail is removed the opening it has caused must be sealed and plugged. This doesn't apply to the premium "tubeless" tires which have sealant in their design such as is found in self-sealing inner tubes. However, all sharp objects always should be removed if discovered because they may in time cause more serious damage.

Main advantage of the "tubeless" job is the fact there's no thinwall inner tube under air pressure to burst if a break in the tire pinches it and causes a rupture. Air leakage from the newer tires is slow. Eliminated too is friction between the tube and shoe.

Mileage Is Oil Test

Even though high detergency oils have been on the market for some time many users still forget that it is no longer correct to judge the condition of oil, after being used in the engine, by its color. Detergents in the newer oils pick up organic matter from the valves, rings and other parts of the system and hold it in suspension until the oil is changed. What counts is car mileage, and also the way the car is used. If there is too much round-trip driving in cold weather the crankcase will load up with diluents and that will shorten the effective usefulness of the oil.

Breaking Down Costs

As if you hadn't noticed it car operation costs are going up a bit. Current estimates is that it should cost the average wheel twirler a little over $900 to operate a car 10,000 miles. Of this amount the biggest expense will be depreciation, with gasoline coming along at just about half the leading expense. According to the AAA's study of this morbid subject the fixed costs, including insurance, licenses and depreciation figure $1.55 a day. The variable expenses, including fuel and oil, tires and maintenance add up to 3.54 cents per mile. The latter assumes that maintenance costs will not be over .74 cents per mile. If you run into some difficulties such as neglecting to have some important part of the car checked, an extra repair bill could easily throw these figures into a dither. People who drive over 10,000 miles a year can figure a special depreciation allowance.

Having Their Troubles

Q. I notice that the oil pressure in the engine of my car is lower this winter than it was in the summer. What would cause this? The engine seems to run all right.

J. L. B.

A. This is due to the very light oil you are using in order to be able to start the motor easily when it has been parked out all night. This is nothing to be concerned about.

Q. Is it all right to use cornstarch on the car's finish when doing a waxing job? I have been told that this speeds up the work?

F. L.

A. It does speed the work by drying the wax faster. However, sprinkle the cornstarch on the cheesecloth used for the polishing, not directly on the finish.

Q. My car has developed the habit of wandering over the road, unless I keep holding it to a straight course. The trouble is more pronounced when there are passengers on the rear seat. Wm. K. G.

A. You will probably find that there are sagged rear springs, but of course have the front end checked for misalignment too.

Q. Do you recommend flushing out the engine's oiling system? The car is two years old and I have used detergent oils regularly. N. N. F.

A. Those detergent oils have a cleansing effect so it should not be necessary to do any flushing. With an old engine the oil pan should first be taken down and accumulated sludge manually cleaned out. Then use regular oil with an additive, replacing this after driving the car for about 200 miles on the open road.

2. I notice that the engine seems sluggish after it gets well warmed up. Oddly enough the car will climb a steep hill in high when cold but will lose enough speed to require second when hot. But there is no evidence of overheating. K. McB.

A. You will find that this is due to the manifold heat control valve sticking. It remains in the position where ingoing gas mixture is continually preheated.

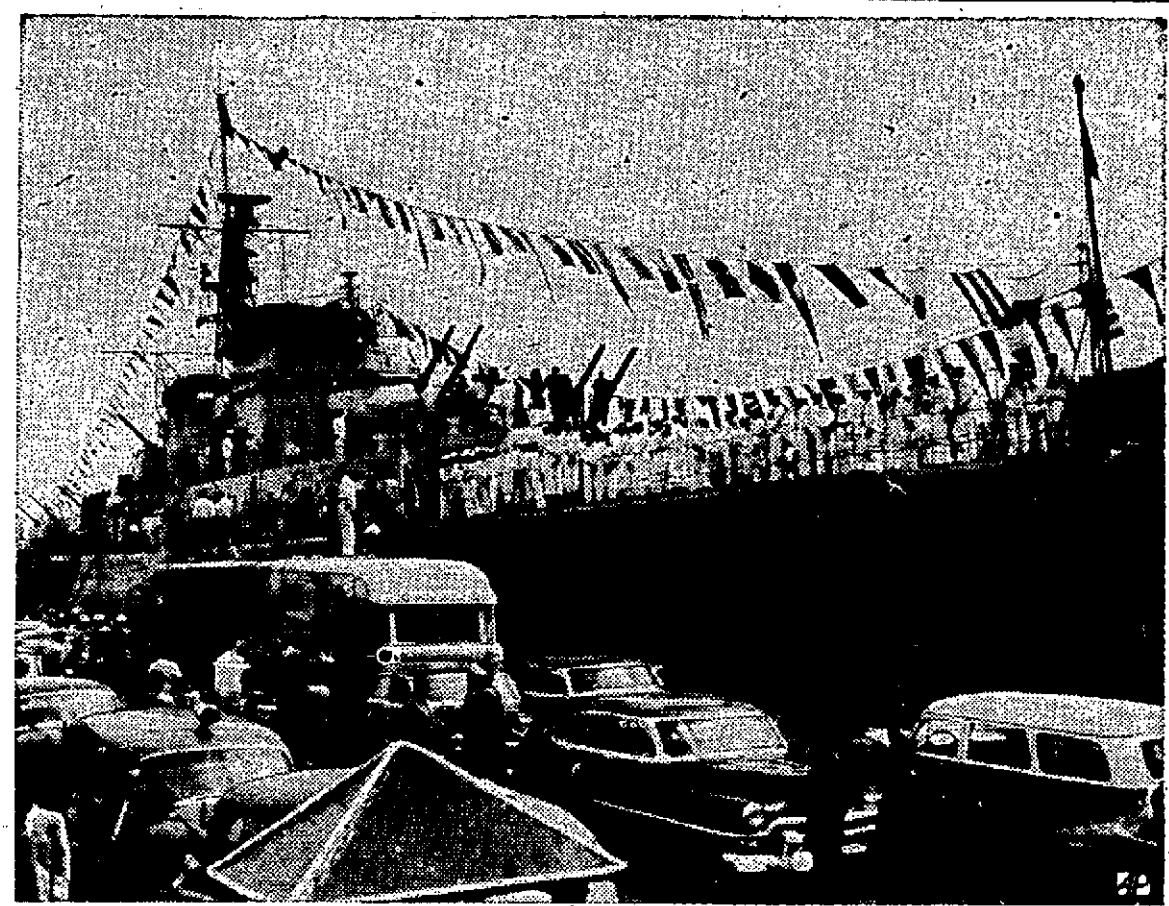

Q. I have been told that by having thin coil springs wrapped around the brake drums vibrations in the brakes will be checked effectively. This sounds like a makeshift remedy to me. What should be done? K. N. F.

A. One of the finest American cars is factory equipped with such spring vibration dampers and has used them successfully for years. The first step, however, is to have the brake shoes readjusted. They may not be concentric with their drums. Lining may be too light. The ends of the lining may need to be cut back.

Q. I have noticed that whenever I turn into a very steep grade with no opportunity to get up speed the car seems to have little power and keeps me guessing as to whether the engine will hold out. The car is equipped with an automatic transmission. N. McM.

A. It is just due to your failure to move the selector lever into "low" position for this sort of climb. In "Drive" the transmission is trying to shift "up" every time the car gets up a little speed, and of course the grade is too steep for that.

VENEZUELA DEDICATES NEW DESTROYER — New British-built destroyer-Zulia is inspected by government officials during dedication ceremony at La Guaira.

NEW YORK (AP)—Screaming in pain, a 20-year-old youth was rescued Friday from a narrow air shaft down which he had plunged almost 12 stories 12 hours earlier.

"Get me out of here," he cried as police emergency squads battered frantically at walls of the shaft between the first and second floors.

"I think my arms and legs are broken, they're all numb," wailed the wedged youth just as the emergency workers finally broke through to free him some three hours after they began their efforts.

The youth, who identified himself as James Anderson, wedged behind pipes in the tiny airshaft—18 inches by five feet—about 9 o'clock Thursday night.

He said a companion bent on burglarizing the office and storage building at 121-123 East 24th St. had forced him at gunpoint to jump through a skylight atop the building, which they had reached by way of fire escapes.

Landed In Shaft

But instead of landing on a floor underneath the skylight, he said he hurtled downward in black space. Near the bottom he stuck between some pipes and the airshaft wall.

At dawn Friday a building worker, Michael Reedy, unlocked a door on the ground level and heard Anderson's muffled pleas for aid.

Reedy raced to a hotel situated next door, and employees there summoned police.

Emergency squads went to work. They guided their efforts by the sound of Anderson's voice.

After breaking through at a point between the ground floor and a basement level, they found they had missed their target. So they went to work again.

Held Gun At Head

At last they broke through near enough for a doctor to give the youth an injection to ease his pain, and then at 9:20 a.m.—almost 12 hours from the time of his plunge—they worked him free.

They found him wedged in a "u" position. He apparently suffered a broken arm, a broken leg and back injuries.

As the men worked, Anderson gave his story in bits and pieces.

"My partner held a .38 caliber gun to my head and told me to jump through the skylight," he said.

"He wanted me to get into the building and pass stuff up to him. I told him I wouldn't do it."

"My partner put the gun to my head and I jumped. The next thing I remember I was entangled in these pipes. I called for help and no one answered."

RESCUE YOUTH TRAPPED 12 HRS. IN AIR SHAFT

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China, Friday, abandoned tiny Nanchishan to the Chinese Reds, giving the Communists another bloodless victory in their civil war.

The Defense Ministry said the evacuation was carried out without U.S. assistance and with no interference by the Reds.

The ministry refused to divulge the number of troops involved, but the garrison of regulars and guerrillas totaled perhaps 5,000.

Blow Up Fortifications

A ministry spokesman said the island's fortifications were blown up before the withdrawal, and all supplies and equipment were brought to Formosa.

The entire civilian population, a little more than 2,000, chose to leave rather than come under Red rule, the spokesman told a news conference. All arrived safely in Formosa.

"Not a single person remained behind," he said.

Nationalist spokesmen insisted right up to the end that Nanchishan would be defended.

Ended At Noon

The operation began at 7 p.m. Wednesday and ended at noon Friday. Nationalist warplanes flew a protective umbrella over the convoy to Keelung harbor.

Nanchishan, 140 miles north of Formosa and 23 miles off the Red mainland, was the northern anchor of Chiang Kai-shek's chain of offshore island outposts.

Its loss followed by less than three weeks the evacuation of the Tachen Islands, 200 miles north of Formosa. The Tachens were surrendered without a fight after the Reds stormed and captured Yikiangshan, eight miles to the north.

Front At Matsui

The evacuation of Nanchishan rolled the civil war front southward to the Matsui complex, 100 miles northwest of Formosa and about 20 miles off the mainland. Besides the Matsui, the Nationalists hold only Quemoy Island outside the U.S.-protected Formosa defense zone, which includes Formosa and the nearby Pescadores.

The Matsui are opposite a red port, Poochow, just as Quemoy is off Amoy, another Red port.

The Nationalists decided to abandon three-square-mile Nanchishan because of U.S. refusal to aid in its defense.

To Move In Fast

The Communists were expected to move into the island quickly just as they did the Tachens after those islands were evacuated with U.S. 7th Fleet assistance.

In the view of Washington officials, Nanchishan had strategic value to the Nationalists as a radar post from which to watch Red air and sea movements along the coast. It has considerable psychological value to the Reds as a place to be exploited as evidence of Communist invincibility in the Far East.

Nationalist China Abandons Nanchishan To Chinese Reds In Bloodless Win For Commies

Plan Was Kept Secret

Col. Hsiung Engteh, Defense Ministry spokesman, told a news conference the evacuation of Nanchishan was planned at the same time as the Tachen pullout. The plan was kept secret, he said, for security reasons.

That brought some blunt questions from foreign correspondents regarding frequent statements by Nationalist spokesmen that Nanchishan would be defended.

One correspondent charged the press had been "deliberately misled." Another declared, "You used the world press to fool the Reds." Still another expressed resentment at having been "gratuitously informed" Thursday that Nanchishan would not be abandoned—at the very time the evacuation was in process.

No Americans

Reporters and photographers went to Keelung harbor Friday morning to cover the expected arrival of the garrison. After hours of waiting they were told the destination was elsewhere in Formosa.

The civilians, however, were landed at Keelung and quartered in the same schools and buildings that housed the Tachen refugees. Most of those from the Tachens are being dispersed to other parts of Formosa.

Hsiung said there were no Americans stationed on Nanchishan, as there had been on the Tachens.

"Strike Power" Voted To Board Of CIO

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 37-member executive board of CIO Transport Workers Union, Local 234, has voted its staff officers "strike power" if the Philadelphia Transportation Co. carries out its planned layoffs of some 200 maintenance employees.

Local president Paul O'Rourke said Thursday he would recommend the "full strike if necessary" resolution to the 250-member joint executive board at a meeting to be held later in the week.

The company has offered to discuss the plan with the union, but insists that any walkout plans would be in direct violation of the "no strike" clause in the management-union contract.
